About 9 o'clock this morning the news was flashed throughout the city that the Chelmsford street bridge spanning the railroad tracks at the Middlesex street station had collapsed and fallen to the tracks forty feet below, taking with it timbers, girders, poles, roofing and the fruit store of Irving Barlow on Chelmsford street.

The first query was whether anybody was killed, whether a street car had fallen with the bridge from the car tracks overhead or whether any number of people had been buried in the debris when the bridge collapsed.

It required a considerable time to discover the extent of the damage and the number of people injured. It was found that three spans of the bridge had fallen but the overhead road had not gone down.

The excitement that followed the accident brought hundreds of people to the scene and when it was found that a number of men were injured, several fire companies were called to avert the danger of a conflagration while the ambulances were promptly on the scene to remove the injured to St. John's hospital.

Among those who went down with the bridge were: Armand Lemire, Edward Bechard and William Corby with several iron workers of the Boston and Maine. The fire companies got to work promptly searching the ruins for wounded and seven were taken out.

After the smoke had cleared away it was found that the little house in which Barlow's store was located had gone down carrying with it several of the iron girders, but the stability of the main bridge was not affected. The iron workers had been at work repairing the bridge for several days and it is believed that the supports to the building may have in some way become weakened.

So far as could be ascertained no lives were lost though fears were entertained that one of the iron workers was under the house and preparations were made to move the building from the tracks as quickly as possible. The tracks were piled high with the debris and engines were called into requisition to pull away the iron beams and that portion of the building that remained intact. It is feared that two of the iron workers will die. Their names were not obtainable at the time of the accident but will appear in the next edition.

Irving Barlow, proprietor of the store that went crashing to the tracks without a moment's notice, is a lucky man. He had just crossed the threshold of his door to speak to Dennis Coney and Jack Ryan, who were standing on the bridge, when the crash came. The crash came without warning and when Mr. Barlow looked around his store and its contents were on the tracks below. His first fear was for the three boys in the store and when he found they had not been killed he heaved a sigh of relief.

First Aid to Injured

Commissioner Morse was talking with Former Agent Taft when the building went down. The two men were standing within a few yards of the spot. "I never saw anything like it in my life," said Mr. Morse. "Without the slightest note of warning the building came tumbling down. It sounded like an explosion and we thought for the moment that the entire bridge had gone down. Then came the ringing of the fire bells and above them could be heard the cries of the men pinned under the iron beams. The blood was running from the mouth of one poor fellow who was pinned beneath a great iron beam and we went to his assistance as quickly as possible. We sent him to the hospital in my automobile."

Capt. Joyce and Lieut. Waller were on the bridge when the accident happened and rushed down to administer first aid to the injured. They rendered valuable assistance all through the trying ordeal of getting the wounded out from under the iron beams and attending to their injuries in the best possible manner.

Medical Examiner Miles soon arrived on the scene and was of valuable assistance in directing the treatment and removal of the wounded. Sheriff Eveleveth and County Commissioner Barlow were also present soon after the accident and did all they possibly could to assist in taking care of the wounded and getting them out of the wreck. Several fire companies came with all haste as a result of the alarm and they certainly did good work in lifting the girders from the bodies of the injured men and searching the ruins in order to find whether any more were buried underneath.

After the injured had been taken from the ruins the railroad men had engines drawn up by which the heavy girders were pulled down the tracks. A large chain was put around a part of the fallen store and it was hauled bodily down the track by an engine.

No Trains on Track

There were no trains on the tracks when the accident occurred. If trains had been standing there and people had been rushing back and forth, getting off and on, there is no telling how serious might have been the result. The crash, however, came at a time when the tracks were clear, yet it is a miracle that a number of persons were not killed. Four men, four women and several children had passed under the bridge not more than two minutes before the accident and others were on their way to pass under when the crash came.

List of Injured

Among the men injured were five employees of the bridge department of the Boston & Maine railroad and two young men in the employ of Irving Barlow, owner of the store that went down.

Two other employees of the railroad company who were at work with their companions on the girders under the bridge miraculously escaped injury.

The injured are as follows: Wilbur Tremblay, 47 years and residing in Nashua, N. H. had laceration of the upper lip and bruises to the right eye and face.

Mary J. Broderick, 22 years and residing in North Adams, 251 Eagle street, contusion of the back, contusion of the right leg, fracture of rib and laceration of the right thumb.

Sylvia Bellevance, 32 years and residing in Attleboro, contusion at base of spine.

Ernest Delude, residing in Nashua, N. H., contusion over the right shoulder and lacerations on arms.

Joseph Beale, residing in Gardner, Mass., broken ribs, injury to head, fracture of elbow and internal injuries.

Herman Lemire, 15 years and residing at 133 Salem street, this city, both arms cut, laceration at the back of the head and right leg bruised.

Edward Bonclard, aged 11 years and residing at 17 Watson avenue, received bad bruises on the chest and forehead and probably a fractured skull. He was removed to the Lowell hospital.

William Corby, a driver for Friend Bros., was in the store when the accident occurred and he also went down and sustained severe injuries. He was removed to Friend Bros' store and later to his home at 275 Appleton st., where he was treated by the family physician.

The injured were rushed to St. John's and Lowell hospitals in haste and in order to take care of all the injured and other casualties were pressed into service. Several physicians were on hand at the hospital and in about one hour all the injured had been given treatment. The doctors at St. John's hospital stated that Joseph Beale was the most seriously injured, but it is believed that if his internal injuries are not too serious he will recover.

Girders Were Fault

It was stated that the iron girders and supports which gave way were in poor condition, that they had weakened by rusting near the ends.

The Bay State Street Railway company will not run any cars over the bridge until it has been pronounced safe by the proper authorities.

The bridge was lined with people immediately after the accident and a squad of police was sent to clear it. It was stated by the Boston & Maine authorities that the tracks would be cleared by 2 o'clock and in the meantime trains for Manchester and other points will be sent around by Lowell Junction.

GEN. VILLA QUILTS AS LEADER OF REBEL ARMY

Sends Resignation to Carranza—Unsatisfactory Standing Between American Delegates and Constitutionalists — Carranza Men Refuse to Agree to Truce

EL PASO, Tex., June 17.—Gen. Villa's situation for the mediation board today.

Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lennann, the American delegates, declined to divulge what they had learned in Buffalo from Rafael Zubaran and Luis Cabrera, personal representatives of Carranza but spoke on the conference as clarifying and valuable.

The constitutionalists had explained in detail and with emphasis that there could be no compromise in any shape or form with General Huerta or any of his party, that a prominent constitutionalist alone would be accepted by them for the presidency and that the military triumph of the revolution was inevitable.

CONFUSING SITUATION

FOR MEDIATION BOARD

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 17.—The unsatisfactory standing between the American delegates and the constitutional representatives at Buffalo, overnight despatches of friction at the Junta between Carranza and Villa, officials and stories of federal successes at Zacatecas produced a confusing situation.

The American delegates realize the futility of further discussion with the Huerta delegates as to personnel.

Following this, Villa's various military chiefs held a conference and sent a "round robin" to Carranza, declaring that they would accept no other than Villa as leader. The split of today resulted.

The North Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' association held its annual meeting in Charlotte, N. C. this week. About 70 mills, with 1,100,000 spindles, were represented. Action was taken endorsing a movement to hold a textile industry exhibit in Charlotte in April, 1915, and a committee was appointed to act in connection with a Charlotte committee.

The time of the meeting was largely devoted to matters of legislation relative to child labor. The following report of the legislative committee was received and approved: "The legislative committee points with pride to the fact that through the efforts of the Cotton Manufacturers' association of North Carolina the first compulsory education law for the South Carolina and probably in the South was enacted."

"We now recommend that this association ask the next general assembly of North Carolina to amend the law so that the new unit of those required to attend public schools will be raised from 12 to 14 years. Also, that the superintendent of public instruction of each county be not only given authority, but that he be required by law to make or have made by local trustees, officers rigid inspection for the purpose of this law. We, the members of the Cotton Manufacturers' association of North Carolina, please ourselves individually and collectively to fully cooperate in the enforcement of the law."

Leather Workers Held Smoke Talk

Enthusiasm was the keynote of the situation at the meeting of the Leather Workers' union, which was held in Leather Workers' hall, in Central street, last evening. It is roughly estimated that about 500 members were in attendance. A smoke talk was held after the business session.

At the regular business session routine business was transacted. Election of officers was also held with the following result: James J. Donnelly, president; Harry Ross, vice-president; William Liston, recording secretary; Thomas McFadden, treasurer; John Muldoon, financial secretary; David Lonsley, guide; Allan Neaves, guard. Board of trustees: John Corey and George Wesson. Delegates to Trades and Labor Council, John Corey, William Liston, J. J. Donnelly, William Brennan, Harry Ross, Daniel McGeevrey and John Muldoon.

Organized Daniel W. Whalen of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union was then introduced and spoke interestingly on the union label. He said that at all times men should be on the lookout for goods with the label stamped thereon as it would be a substantial safeguard that the goods bought were of the highest workmanship. In the latter part of his speech he dwelt on co-operation between the different unions, and especially between the Leather Workers and the Boot and Shoe Workers as they were so closely affiliated. He was greeted with much applause at the conclusion of his remarks.

President James J. Donnelly followed Mr. Whalen and his remarks dwelt chiefly on the members getting together and helping in the movement that is now on foot to swell the ranks.

Refreshments were then served and an enjoyable entertainment was given by the following: Piano solo, Richard Corbin; solo, Jerry Long; solo, Thomas O'Loughlin; clog dance, Ed. Scobin; solo, Charles Sadler; solo, the Johnston; solo, John Quinn; solo, John Diary. After the entertainment dance was enjoyed.

NEW YORK MERCHANT SUCCEEDS AFTER WATCHING HARVARD-YALE BASEBALL GAME

NEW HAVEN, June 17.—Mark H. Burch, a New York merchant, whose residence is at 1401 11th, Broadway and 66th street, dropped dead after the Yale-Harvard baseball game yesterday afternoon. He had just come from the game and, feeling faint, went into a monument factory next to the Yale field and sat down on a tombstone. He almost immediately fell over senseless.

Doctors pronounced him beyond all hope and word was sent to Medical Examiner Scarborough, who declared that death was due to apoplexy brought on by the excitement of the game. Dr. Scarborough ordered the body taken to a local undertaking establishment.

Mr. Burch was accompanied by his wife, who is a devout Christian Scientist. She refused to believe that he was dead and finally secured permission to take his body to New York, where she declared she would have an examination made by Christian Science practitioners. She ran beside her husband's body to the train and sat beside the coffin on the way to New York.

Mr. Burch was 55 years of age and a prosperous merchant.

BILLERICA

There was considerable excitement in Billerica last evening when the two fire companies were called to the Boston & Maine repair shops where it was said that the plant was on fire.

It was learned that a false alarm had been caused by the bursting of an automatic sprinkler.

When the night watchman heard the fire going ring he immediately telephoned the North Billerica fire department to report that a fire was in progress at the shops. Two alarms were sounded and the companies made record time in reaching the spot only to learn that the sprinkler system had given way and caused the fire going to ring in.

50,000 SEE BIG BONFIRE

"NIGHT BEFORE" CELEBRATION OF
139TH ANNIVERSARY OF BATTLE
OF BUNKER HILL

BOSTON, June 17.—A great crowd, numbering about 50,000 persons, gathered in the Sullivan square playground, Charlestown, last night, for the bonfire, one of the best and largest seen in Greater Boston in many years. This feature of the "night before" celebration of the 139th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill was arranged entirely by business men and women in the vicinity of Sullivan Square.

The massive pile of railroad ties, which cost several hundred dollars, all of which was contributed by residents of Charlestown, was 67 feet high, with a base 50 feet square.

Inside the great pile of ties were all sorts of inflammable material, old barrels, boxes, pieces of wood and oil-soaked material which helped to make the enormous structure blaze furiously the moment the torch was applied.

Promptly at 10 the anxious crowd, many of whom had been waiting more than an hour, made way for members of the committee in charge of the exercises, who escorted Councilor Daniel J. McDonald, chairman of the city committee on Bunker Hill Day celebration, to the base of the structure and he applied the torch. The fire spread rapidly and soon dense volumes of smoke arose, followed by flames.

The heat grew intense and drove those nearest the pile back in all directions. The sky was brilliantly illuminated and it appeared as if Charlestown was again visited by a great fire along the waterfront.

The arrangements for the bonfire were carefully made by the committee, which comprised Hon. Richard S. Tedlow, Edward Murphy, George Finn, John Nelson and Arthur Seche.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING

EDWARD SHANNON TOOK BOY
FROM CONCORD—PULMOTOR DID
THE REST

The pulmotor which was purchased by the city some time ago was used in an effective manner late yesterday afternoon in bringing back to life Paul Bechard, aged 3 years, of 263 Fayette street, who came very nearly being drowned in the Concord river. The little fellow is now at St. John's hospital and out of danger.

According to companions of the little fellow, who were playing on the banks of the river, Bechard threw himself into the water and attempted to swim as he had seen some of the older boys doing. The child was unconscious of any danger, but his loud cries, when he felt himself sinking, attracted the attention of Edward Shannon, who leaped into the water to the rescue. The boy was rescued the second time when Shannon reached him and succeeded in towing him to shore.

A hurry call for the ambulance was sent in and while awaiting the arrival of the ambulance the little fellow was rolled over and over on a barrel, and every effort was made to revive him but without result. Dr. John J. Donovan brought the pulmotor to the scene of the accident and after considerable work the little fellow was brought back to life. He was then rushed to St. John's hospital, where today he is resting comfortably. The accident occurred near the bridge in Church street.

GIRL KILLED BY AUTO

ASUNTA MINICUCCI, AGED 8, OF
HAVERHILL, RUN DOWN IN ME-
TUES

METHUEN, June 8.—Asunta Minicucci, aged 8, was killed by an automobile driven by Ralph Anderson of Haverhill about a year and a half ago near the John H. Russell place on Merrimack street in the Pleasant Valley district.

The driver claims that the little girl was riding on the rear end of a wagon and just as he was to pass she jumped off and stepped directly in front of the automobile. Anderson had three women passengers, Mrs. E. St. Arnold, Mrs. Clara Arnold and Mrs. Arthur McNeill of Haverhill. After the accident he drove to the local police station. Assistant Medical Examiner Reed viewed the body and said the child had several ribs broken and died from shock.

Judge Rogers, after considering the statements of Anderson and Chief of Police Nimo, decided to release Anderson without making any charge against him. No further action will be taken until after the inquest.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

MRS. ANNA CATANIA FOUND NOT GUILTY OF KILLING AGGRIP-
PINO CAPRA

BOSTON, June 17.—Mrs. Anna Catania of Chelsea, who has been on trial for her life before Judge Chase and a jury in the Suffolk superior court for the past two years on the charge of killing Agrippino Capra on the morning of October 3, was found not guilty at 11:15 last night. Capra died from the effects of two bullet and three stab wounds. Mrs. Catania took the stand in her own defense and stated that the killing was done by her husband, who returned to the Chelsea house after taking their oldest child and deserting her, gained entrance by using a ladder to reach a window and discovered Capra. He then fired the shots and used the knife, she said.

Mrs. Catania is the mother of an 11-month-old infant, who has been in jail with her since her arrest.

MRS. PENNYBACKER HEADS FED-ERATION AGAIN—MARGARET
WILSON LEADS IN SINGING

CHICAGO, June 17.—George J. Knocland, director of the department of investigation of the American Social Hygiene association, told the General Federation of Women's Clubs in convention here yesterday that a startling minority of immoral girls come from homes other than those of poverty and ignorance.

His agents in the last year have gathered histories of 500 girls not yet professionally immoral, but well started on the downward path. Contrary to the general impression that the majority of these girls are feeble-minded or sub-moral, Mr. Knocland said the majority were intelligent.

Resolutions adopted yesterday recommended simple, becoming and modest designs in dress, the services of the home economic division to further the Smith-Lever bill in congress to establish a bureau of home economies, increased appropriations for state and city boards of health, university extension work for the prevention of disease.

The resolutions also promised to cooperate with children's bureaus to prepare pamphlets for mothers on sex instruction for the children.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Texas was re-elected, and the entire ticket of the nominating committee was elected without opposition.

Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president, led the delegates in the singing of Edwin Markham's song, "Brotherhood." When Mrs. Pennybacker introduced Miss Wilson the throng of delegates arose and waved and cheered her for fully 10 minutes.

GALE OVER NEW ENGLAND

BLISTERING WIND REACHES VE-
LOCITY OF 30 MILES AN HOUR
OVER BOSTON AND VICINITY

BOSTON, June 17. Yesterday seemed far more like September than June, the blistering northwesterly gale, reaching a velocity of 30 miles an hour, making it seem colder than it really was. The range in temperature was from 56 to 66, the latter figure being attained late in the afternoon. By 8 o'clock, however, the mercury had fallen to 59 once more, with indications that it would go several degrees lower during the night.

A year ago yesterday the maximum here was 91. The showers which fell intermittently during the morning were caused by a disturbance over northern New England, which had its center over Eastport last night. The total rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 3 p. m. amounted only to .07 of an inch. High winds prevailed all over New England, the result of the disturbance of which Boston received the edge. Hall and snow flurries were reported to have fallen in Dorchester during the morning.

IN PAWTUCKETVILLE

A big raft of business was put through in double quick time by the municipal council at its regular meeting this forenoon. The cause of the hurry was due to the fact that Mayor Murphy wanted to get away before the noon hour in order to catch a train for Worcester, where he will attend the commencement exercises at Holy Cross college. Judge Samuel P. Hadley walked in just before the meeting and was invited to a seat beside the mayor. Mr. Baldwin of the state board of education was present and later accompanied the commissioners to the State Normal school in Broadway to attend the exercises of graduation there.

Two big orders, one to borrow $300,000 for temporary purposes and the other for $35,000 for sewers in Chase avenue, Tolman avenue and West Meadow road, were ready and put over for further consideration.

Patrolman Frank H. Whitney and Peter Donohoe of the water department were placed on the pension roll. A hearing on the petition of Mr. Whitney to be placed on the pension roll was held at the last meeting and the hearing on the Donohoe petition was held today. The municipal council voted unanimously to place both men on the pension list.

Mayor Murphy called the meeting to order at 11:15 and the first business before the board had to do with petitions for permits to build garages and the petitions were referred to the commissioners of public property and fire protection.

Drs. E. J. Welch and Francis J. Mahoney were on hand as witnesses in the Donohoe hearing, and in order not to delay the hearing, Alderman Carmichael asked that the hearing on the petition of Peter Donohoe for retirement on the pension roll be taken up. Dr. Welch was the first witness. He said that Mr. Donohoe had been operating three times within as many years and that he was now beyond the reach of surgical aid. Dr. Mahoney said that the petitioner was absolutely incapacitated for work. The council then, acting under chapter 447 of the acts of 1912, voted unanimously to place Peter Donohoe on the pension list. Mr. Donohoe will receive at the rate of $152.75 a year, or about $15.21 a month.

The mayor then read the petition of Patrolman Frank H. Whitney who was given a hearing at the last meeting and in his case, too, the board voted unanimously to grant the petition. Mr. Whitney will receive $540 a year, or $45.00 a month. This pension will be paid out of the police department appropriation and the Donohoe pension will be paid out of the water department appropriation.

Permits for Garages
Petitions submitted by the following persons for permits to build garages were referred to the commissioners of public property and fire protection: H. S. Redman, Charles M. Bixby, Rev. James Hancock, Raymond C. Clapp and Dr. F. L. Gage.

A claim submitted by William Brown for personal injuries was referred to the committee on claims.

Petitions for the filling or watering of streets were referred to the commissioner of streets and highways. These petitions included Loring, Chelmsford, Walnut and Methuen streets.

For New Band Stand
At a previous meeting Alderman Donnelly submitted an order to transfer the balance of an appropriation for the erection of a band stand on the Fourth common from his department to the park department. No action was taken and today the order was defeated. Mr. Donnelly explaining that he had gone over the matter with the park department, the inspector of buildings and the architect who had prepared plans for the band stand, and he was satisfied, he said, that the band stand could be built for the $1500 remaining out of the money appropriated for that purpose a year ago. It was first intended to build the band stand in the South common pool but these arrangements have been altered and the plan so modified as to render it possible to build the stand within the amount remaining out of the original appropriation.

Abraham Olsen Compensated
On the 14th day of March, 1914, Abraham Olsen sustained injuries while traversing the sidewalk on Gorham street, between the entrance to St. John's church and St. Peter's parochial school and he put in a claim for personal injuries. Today he was awarded the sum of $40 and the council also voted to allow St. John's hospital $23 for taking care of Olsen, the money to be paid out of the appropriation designated "relatives."

$35,000 for Sewers
The next matter had to do with the petition of John C. Keleher et al, for sewers in Tolman avenue, Chase avenue and West Meadow road; also on the necessity of laying a sewer through private land to Woodward avenue.

The estimated expense of building said sewer, with brick and pipe, follows: 700 feet, 30 inch brick; 1322 feet, 24 inch brick; 1362, 20-inch pipe; 221 feet, 12-inch pipe; 1718, 10-inch pipe; 655, eight-inch pipe, at the average depths of 5, 12, 13 and 9 feet, is $33,000. Said estimate is exclusive of land damage and ledger. The probable amount to be assessed upon abutters on the line of said sewers cannot be estimated until the land damages are settled.

Alderman Morse spoke in favor of the petition and said the sewers were badly needed there. Harold Varum was present and prepared to speak on the sewer question, but the matter was deferred to next Friday, because Mayor Murphy said he wanted to make sure that the work could be done out of the regular appropriation for sewer construction.

Playground Passed Up

The mayor then read a communication from John W. Kernan, superintendent of parks, relative to land offered by the Lawrence Mfg. Co., for playground purposes. The land is situated in Perkins street and Aiken street. The following is from Mr. Kernan's letter to the mayor:

"After your information, the former owners of the land, the Locks & Canals corporation, leased to the city the plot of land containing about five acres and having a frontage on Perkins street for the sum of $5 and the abatement of the taxes."

"Now the new owners, the Lawrence Mfg. Co. are desirous that the city lease an additional plot containing about two and a half acres and having a frontage on Aiken street. They are willing to let the city have the use of this whole area of about seven and a half acres, for playground purposes, in return for the abatement of taxes thereon."

"I am informed that the probable tax revenue from the land would amount to about $1655."

The council allowed that $1076 was a little too much to pay for a playground for about four months and the city clerk was instructed to convey that intelligence to the park superintendent. This will mean the opening up again of the Greenhalge school playground.

Hand of Trade Letters

There were two communications from the board of trade. One had to do with the ordinance regulating the moving of household goods. The board wanted the council to adopt an ordinance presented some time ago. The other communication had to do with the council's failure to appropriate money for the publication of a city tax book as required by ordinance. Mr. Brown said he had intended to bring in an order on the tax book matter today, but said he would take it up at

Wants Flag Shanty Moved

Alderman Morse said he is going to build a granite sidewalk in front of the Y. M. C. A. building in Merrimack street and he wants the flag shanty moved. The flag shanty, or house he says is on the street line and will have to take a back seat while the sidewalk is being built. Mr. Morse explained that the Y. M. C. A. would have to pay for all the sidewalk on its own land and half of the cost of the sidewalk on the city's premises. The matter was referred to the city solicitor with instructions to take it up with the Boston & Maine authorities.

The bill for two lots of coal supplied the city by D. T. Sullivan, June 16, of the present year was approved.

Order to Borrow $500,000

The next business was the presentation by Commissioner Brown of an order to borrow $500,000 for temporary purposes and in anticipation of taxes.

Speaking to the order, Mr. Brown said: "Already $500,000 has been borrowed in anticipation of taxes of 1914 by authorization of this council, and with the $500,000, which I now request this council to authorize to be borrowed, will make a total amount of $1,000,000 to be borrowed for temporary purposes, such sum will represent the full amount to be borrowed for temporary purposes during the year 1914."

By passing this order, the municipal council will have authorized the borrowing of $1,000,000 during the year 1914 for temporary purposes as compared with the total amount of $1,700,000 authorized to be borrowed in 1912 and 1914 of $300,000. I suggest, moreover, that the $1,400,000 authorized to be borrowed in 1914 that $300,000 of that amount will be paid from cash out of the general treasury, and not from borrowed money.

Mr. Brown then said he would not ask to have the order adopted and moved that the city collector be instructed to take the matter up with the banks to see if the form of the order was legal.

This was agreeable to the council and at the stroke of "high noon" the meeting adjourned to Friday at 11 a. m.

Hudson Announcement

YOU have heard of the wonderful success of the 1914 HUDSON 6-40, commonly called the "LIGHT SIX." It took the country by storm because it was just what the people demanded—a car light in weight, economical in operation, yet with all the performance and riding qualities which we formerly believed could be obtained in high priced, heavy automobiles, only.

The car was scientifically constructed. Others were striving to produce the same kind of an automobile, but only Howard E. Coffin and his famous engineers were completely successful in attaining their object. This is shown by the fact that while the HUDSON COMPANY was the largest builder of cars of this type, their output was way over and literally thousands of people who wanted this car were unable to secure a delivery. In Lowell, we were entirely sold out of the 1914 Model on May 12th.

The price was $1750 F. O. B. factory and it was admittedly the best value on the market. Now, the Hudson Company make the astounding announcement that by doubling their output, by buying all material in twice the former quantity, they are able to furnish this car for the year 1915 for

$1550, F. O. B. DETROIT

Just think of it, hundreds of dollars lower than the price of any car that even claims to be a competitor. And more than that, the 1915 product is even a better car than last year's! Every improvement which a year's service has shown to be possible has been made and the new car may truthfully be said to be beyond criticism. Certainly, at this price, no man need be satisfied with a car less good.

We are promised a few deliveries the last of June and a fair quantity in July, but until the Winter weather gives us a chance to catch up, we cannot hope to furnish all of these cars the public will demand.

Therefore, we propose to make reservations in exactly the order in which the requests are received. If you are thinking of a new car, call at once; let us give you full information and if you desire, book your order subject to your approval of the car when you see it. This is the only way you can be sure of an early delivery. Call or phone right now.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon. Apply it at night when retiring, enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

EXCUSE ME

LADY LOOKABOUT

Street fakirs are certainly a wonderful institution. I was passing the corner of Jackson and Central streets a few days ago, when I came across one of the gentry just outside the Hamilton mill gate. On a little tray before him were a few peckholes. It was the closing hour for the mill crowd, and as the help poured out, the fakir assailed them with the most powerful line of argument and the most glowing description of his knife that I have ever heard. They gathered about him, listening. The knife, it seems, was a combination of nine or ten tools. He proved to the men standing there that they needed his knife—one part to clean the finger nails; another to be used as a tooth-pick, and—listen to this—an ear-spoon to be used on the ears! As he spoke, he illustrated the uses for which each part was designed. When I saw him thrust fully an inch of the ear-spoon into his ear, I said to myself, "I'll bet he's got it in there triumphantly to the crowd, I recalled the old ad-my car not come along just then. I think I would now be the proud possessor of the nine tools in one—ear-spoon and all.

Hiding Withered Necks

It is with a feeling of satisfaction and joy that I observe the passing of the extremely low cut neck. A little round or Dutch cut neck is becoming to almost every woman, but when the V cut was adopted, and the point of the V grew deeper and deeper, and the line between day and evening dress was forgotten, it was pretty hard for the maiden whose neck was built primarily for use rather than for beauty. Because the cut and hang of one's garment are not particularly interesting to the general public. Once neck, which one has retained to the latest year of her life, has the unkind facility of one's years, and a woman would not be a woman if she did not wish to commune justice to herself, to draw about it a mantle of clarity in the form of a collar. So well was this trick of the neck, known, appreciated and battled with long ago, that today we are glad to fall back in the safe, some mass, used by the ladies at Meville and the Robespierre ladies. Every time I look upon a picture of Queen Elizabeth with her bow-wide neck-band, I say to myself, "Thanks to doughnuts, her neck was as yellow as a duck's foot," and I know I would win. Somehow my heart was drawn a little towards the old tyrant when I look upon that stiff, worn in vain to conceal the relentless ravages of time. It is the one touch which makes her akin to all womankind. My thoughts when I look upon a replica of the same ruff on the neck of the so-called saint, St. Walter Raleigh, I would rather think than say, "Ah, none of us would recognize Bernhardt, the Divine Sera, without the high, swathing collar she always wears to hide her withered neck and its tell-tale creases—Culchra cuts in an ancient fashion. And so those of us who are suddenly down to earth and brown, where should flourish plumpness and dimples, welcome the high, up-standing, lace ruffing which encircles the neck and all but conceals ears and chin.

All Waiting at the Church
It is an imposing array of masculine heavy which lines up on the sidewalk in front of St. Peter's church after each mass every Sunday. It would be hard to make a choice from the throng, and the maiden is busy indeed who cannot find there her ideal for every type is represented.

Great ones, small ones, lean ones, brawny ones, Brown heads, black heads, gray heads, Gay young friskers, grave old plodgers!

There they stand, not rudely staring. Oh, no! They just peep and prime and pose, balancing on the edge of the curb, or leaning carelessly against the curb-house, or a near post, each trying to look unconscious of his many charms. But the attempt is futile, just as plainly as though they were creating it, does the manner of each betray the fact that he thinks himself a perfect facsimile of a fashion advertisement in the Lowell Sun. I would like to tell you the names of some of them, for you would know them, but I do not want to be personal. I will say that our handsomest commissioner has been known to join the fashionable throng and make the most of a good profile. I would recommend to The Lowell Sun photographer that he make a special trip up there some Sunday and snap the lineup for the Monday edition. I am sure it would produce a record-breaking sale.

The Sleeping Porch
The sleeping porch has become so popular an adjunct to many homes, that it may safely be called an institution of American life. In many neighborhoods of the city, house after house may be seen, equipped with an open air sleeping room. Look again, they proved their worth, hence their popularity. No one can deny that open air sleeping is far better than indoor sleeping, however well the ventilation. Many diseases respond to this treatment, and physicians recommend it for disorders of the lungs and nerves.

Formerly it was believed that night air was poisonous. This erroneous idea was dispelled by Florence Nightingale, who was the pioneer advocate of open air sleeping. She met with much opposition from medical men, and did not live to see her belief adopted to any extent.

Women's Dress Reform
At the General Federation of Women's clubs recently held in Chicago, much time was given to the discussion of reform in women's dress. The fact that the American woman is the face of the Parisian fashion makers was dwelt upon. It was brought out that the fashions of the day with their scantiness, their suggestive lines, their slashes, and their X-ray materials, "covering everything, yet concealing nothing," as one speaker put it, are made, not for the women of culture and virtue, but for the women of the demi-monde of Paris. This fact is well recognized in France and England, and these styles correspondingly ignored, but not so with the American woman. She does not seem to grasp the significance of much that comes to us bearing the hall mark of Paris. Avidly she seizes upon every new wrinkle from the French capital, no matter how absurd or how ridiculous. We all know the knowledge that our gown, or our wrap, or our boots, as the case may be, and this consciousness of being perfectly equipped in regard to gown, wrap, hat or boots, as the case may be, and this consciousness is more sustaining to a woman in a trying moment, than a suit of armor ever could have been to a Crusader of old. Use of this weakness of ours is taken advantage of even by the lesser retailers whose business does not warrant carrying imported models. Many of their goods, they tell the prospective purchaser are "copied from French models," or "this is a little imported thing," so Frenchy, you know! And to our shame, be it said, the words and a halo to the goods, and immediately they become most desirable. The essential qualities of becomingness, price and general suitability, are too often overlooked, frequently only to find that we have been sadly duped.

The women's clubs of the United States are to take up this matter of dress reform for women, and give to it their attention during the coming year, and let us hope their efforts may be rewarded by the same success which has heretofore been theirs in other matters.

Another motion adopted at the General Federation of Women's Clubs was suffrage. Compelled as we all are to day to recognize the equality of men and women, the Federation believes it should use its strength to hasten the enfranchisement of women. This is a most important step in the affairs of the Federation. For twenty years this movement has been fought only to prevail in the end. Many who had long opposed such action on the part of the Federation, tearfully gave the motion their support, thus removing their objection to that which is inevitable. Here in Massachusetts, with suffrage for women almost at hand, the most frivolous must be impressed with the solemnity of the privilege soon to be bestowed upon them. It is a sobering thought—one which makes us keep in mind and reject that, "God's in his heaven And all's well with the world."

WANTS HIS DAUGHTERS

A letter was received at the local police station from Prof. Leon Van De Cruyssen of Kansas City, Mo., inquiring as to the whereabouts of his two daughters, Rose Blance and Vita, whom he left here in 1898 when he removed to the west.

The letter reads as follows: Chief of Police, Lowell, Mass. Dear Sir: Hoping that I am not intruding upon your valuable time I beg you to locate one or both of my daughters, Rose Blance and Vita Van De Cruyssen, aged 35 and 31 years respectively. The mother, my wife, Jane Van De Cruyssen (maiden name Jane Bernard) in 1893 conducted a dressmaking establishment in Merrick street, between Central street and the old depot. We were married in 1881 and lived where the monument hall now stands on Merrimack street. As I have to go to Europe on an important cruise I would very much like to communicate with one of my daughters before I leave.

Faithfully yours, Dr. Leon Van De Cruyssen

Fire Department on Scene to Search Ruins for Injured—Ambulances Took the Wounded to the Hospital

NOTRE DAME ACADEMY GRADUATION TODAY

Closing Service Was Held at the Academy Chapel—Sermon by the Rev. Francis J. Mullin of St. Michael's—Rt. Rev. Wm. O'Brien Present

The beautiful little chapel of Notre Dame Academy was again crowded this morning with former pupils, relatives and friends of those about to graduate. For once again the annual year has been brought to a close and eight graduates received the diploma which crowns their student career at this noted and progressive institution. As in the past the diplomas were conferred on the graduates by Right Reverend Mr. William O'Brien P. M., during a solemn high mass, celebrated this morning by Rev. James J. Kerrigan, assisted by Rev. Frs. Timothy P. Callahan and Joseph A. Curtin as deacons of the mass. Rev. William J. O'Brien was master of ceremonies and the sermon was preached by Rev. Francis J. Mullin, who paid an eloquent tribute to the training given at Notre Dame and exhorted the pupils to remain true to their resolutions through whatever fate life may hold for them.

The scene in the chapel at the opening of the mass was very beautiful and impressive. The altars had been specially decorated for the occasion with great clusters of flowers, the high altar being particularly beautiful in pink and white peonies and roses, and the sacred heart altar brilliant with a mass of scarlet plumes. Through the flowers clusters of candles were grouped effectively.

VIEW SHOWING RUINS OF STORE AND FALLEN GIRDERS OF BRIDGE

About 9 o'clock this morning the news was flashed throughout the city that the Chelmsford street bridge spanning the railroad tracks at the Middlesex street station had collapsed and fallen to the tracks forty feet below, taking with it timbers, girders, poles, roofing and the fruit store of Irving Barlow on Chelmsford street.

The first query was whether anybody was killed, whether a street car had fallen with the bridge from the car tracks overhead or whether any number of people had been buried in the debris when the bridge collapsed.

It required a considerable time to discover the extent of the damage and the number of people injured. It was found that two girders of the bridge had fallen but the overhead road had not gone down.

The excitement that followed the accident brought hundreds of people to the scene and when it was found that a number of men were injured, several fire companies were called to avert the danger of a conflagration while the ambulances were promptly on the scene to remove the injured to St. John's hospital.

Among those who went down with the bridge were: Armand Lemire, Edward Bechard and William Corby with several iron workers of the Boston and Maine. The fire companies got to work promptly searching the ruins for wounded and seven were taken out.

After the smoke had cleared away it was found that the little house in which Barlow's store was located had gone down carrying with it several of the iron girders, but the stability of the main bridge was not affected. The iron workers had been at work repairing the bridge for several days and it is believed that the supports to the building may have in some way become weakened.

The railroad tracks were piled high with the debris and engines were called into requisition to pull away the iron beams and that portion of the building that remained intact.

Mr Barlow's Escape

Irving Barlow, proprietor of the store that went crashing to the tracks without a moment's notice, is a lucky man. He had just crossed the threshold of his door to speak to Dennis Cooney and Jack Ryan, who were standing on the bridge, when the crash came. The crash came without warning and when Mr. Barlow looked around his store and its contents were on the tracks below. His first fear was for the three boys in the store and when he found they had not been killed he heaved a sigh of relief.

List of Injured

Among the men injured were five employees of the bridge department of the Boston & Maine railroad and two young men in the employ of Irving Barlow, owner of the store that went down.

Two other employees of the railroad company who were at work with their companions on the girders under the bridge miraculously escaped harm.

The injured are as follows:

Joseph Belair, residing in Nashua, N. H., had laceration of the upper lip and bruises in the right eye and face.
Mary J. Broderick, 22 years, and residing in North Adams, 221 Eagle street, contusion of the back, contusion of the right leg, fracture of rib and laceration of the right thumb.
Sylvia Bellevance, 32 years and residing in Attleboro, contusion at base of spine.
Ernest Delude, residing in Nashua, N. H., contusion over the right shoulder and lacerations on arms.
Joseph Belair, residing in Nashua, Mass., broken ribs, injury to head, fracture of elbow and internal injuries.

REBEL GUNBOAT SUNK BY HUERTA GUNBOAT

Captain and Engineer of Rebel Boat Committed Suicide—Villa Denies Split With Carranza—Arrest of Carranza Officials a Mistake, He Says

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The Huerta gunboat Guerrero defeated and probably sank the constitutionalist gunboat Tampico near Mazatlan, according to a report today from Rear Admiral Howard. The captain and chief engineer of the Tampico committed suicide.

The naval battle was witnessed by the United States ships New Orleans, Perry and Preble. No details were reported.

A long despatch was received at the White House from the American delegates at the Niagara conference, which officials said did not change the situation. Beyond expressing the view that there was hope of the ultimate success of the mediation officials did not comment on the situation.

Both the war and state departments and the White House disclaimed having any official information on the reported break between Carranza and Villa.

GEN. VILLA DENIES

SPLIT WITH CARRANZA

EL PASO, Texas, June 17.—General Villa, through his agents here issued today a general denial that there had been any split between himself and General Carranza. He said that the arrest of the Carranza officials at Juarez had been the result of a misinterpretation of orders on the part of Colonel Thomas Ornelas, in charge of the Juarez garrison.

It was learned, however, that between 20 and 30 employees of the Juarez office were sent on a special train early today to Chihuahua city, the state capital, thence to be transported to Torreon, where Villa remained. These men, employees of the customs house, telegraph office, treasury department, information bureau were arrested late yesterday by Colonel Ornelas in a raid on the

Raise Age Limit
The North Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' Association held its annual meeting in Charlotte, N. C., last week. About 75 mills, with 10,000 operatives, were represented. Action was taken endorsing a movement to hold a textile machinery exhibit in Charlotte in April, 1915, and a committee was appointed to act in connection with a Charlotte committee.

The time of the meeting was largely devoted to matters of legislation relative to child labor. The following report of the legislative committee was received and approved: "The legislative committee points with pride to the fact that through the efforts of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of North Carolina the first compulsory education law for North Carolina and probably in the south was enacted."

"We now recommend that this association ask the next annual assembly of North Carolina to amend the law so that the age limit of those required to attend public schools will be raised from 12 to 13 years. Also, that the superintendent of public instruction of each county be given authority to make or have made by local boards of health and inspectors for the purpose of this law. We urge members of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of North Carolina to place themselves individually and collectively to fully co-

NEW YORK MERCHANT SUICIDES
AFTER WATCHING HARVARD-YALE BASEBALL GAME

NEW HAVEN, June 17.—Mark H. Burch, a New York merchant, whose residence is at Euclid hall, Broadway and 67th street, dropped dead after the Yale-Harvard baseball game yesterday afternoon. He had just come out from the game and, feeling faint, went into a monument factory next to the Yale field and sat down on a tombstone. He almost immediately fell over senseless. Doctors pronounced him beyond all hope and word was sent to Medical Examiner Scarborough, who declared that death was due to apoplexy brought on by the excitement of the game. Dr. Scarborough ordered the body taken to a local undertaking establishment.

Mr. Burch was accompanied by his wife, who is a devout Christian Scientist. She refused to believe that he was dead and finally secured permission to take his body to New York, where she declared she would have an examination made by Christian Science practitioners. She rode beside her husband's body to the train and sat beside the coffin on the way to New York.

Mr. Burch was 54 years of age and a prosperous merchant.

BILLERICA
There was considerable excitement in Billerica last evening when the two fire companies were called to the Boston & Maine repair shops where it was said that the plant was on fire but upon the arrival of the apparatus it was learned that a false alarm had been caused by the bursting of an automatic sprinkler.

When the night watchman heard the fire going ring he immediately telephoned the North Billerica fire department to report that a fire was in progress at the shops. Two alarms were sounded and the companies made record time in reaching the spot only to learn that the sprinkler system had given way and caused the fire going to ring in.

50,000 SEE BIG BONFIRE

"NIGHT BEFORE" CELEBRATION OF
139TH ANNIVERSARY OF BATTLE
OF BUNKER HILL

BOSTON, June 17.—A great crowd, numbering about 50,000 persons, gathered in the Sullivan square playground, Charlestown, last night, for the bonfire, one of the best and largest seen in Greater Boston in many years. This feature of the "night before" celebration of the 139th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill was arranged entirely by business men and women in the vicinity of Sullivan Square.

The massive pile of railroad ties, which cost several hundred dollars, all of which was contributed by residents of Charlestown, was 67 feet high, with a base 50 feet square.

Inside the great pile of ties were all sorts of inflammable material, old barrels, boxes, pieces of wood and oil-soaked material which helped to make the enormous structure blaze furiously the moment the torch was applied.

Promptly at 10 the anxious crowd, many of whom had been waiting more than an hour, made way for members of the committee in charge of the exercises, who escorted Councilor Daniel J. McDonald, chairman of the city committee on Bunker Hill Day celebration, to the base of the structure and he applied the torch. The fire spread rapidly and soon dense volumes of smoke arose, followed by flames.

The heat grew intense and drove these nearest the pile back in all directions. The sky was brilliantly illuminated and it appeared as if Charlestown was again visited by a great fire along the waterfront.

The arrangements for the bonfire were carefully made by the committee, which comprised Hon. Richard S. Tooling, Edward Murphy, George Finn, John Nelson and Arthur Secha.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING

EDWARD SHANNON TOOK BOY FROM CONCORD—PULMOTOR DID THE REST

The pulmotor which was purchased by the city some time ago was used in an effective manner late yesterday afternoon in bringing back to life Paul Berchard, aged 3 years, of 53 Fayette street, who came very nearly being drowned in the Concord river. The little fellow is now at St. John's hospital and out of danger.

According to companions of the little fellow, who were playing on the banks of the river, Berchard threw himself into the water and attempted to swim as he had seen some of the older boys doing. The child was unconscious of any danger, but his loud cries, when he felt himself sinking, attracted the attention of Edward Shannon, who leaped into the water to the rescue. The lad was sinking for the second time when Shannon reached him and succeeded in towing him to shore.

A hurry call for the ambulance was sent in and while awaiting the arrival of the ambulance the little fellow was rolled over and over on a barrel, and every effort was made to revive him but without result. Dr. John J. Donovan brought the pulmotor to the scene of the accident and after considerable work the little fellow was brought back to life. He was then rushed to St. John's hospital, where today he is resting comfortably. The accident occurred near the bridge in Church street.

GIRL KILLED BY AUTO

ASUNTA MINICUCCI, AGED 8, OF HAVERTHILL, RUN DOWN IN MERTHEEN

MERTHEEN, June 16.—Asunta Minicucci, aged 8, was killed by an automobile driven by Ralph Anderson of Havert Hill about 1 yesterday afternoon near the John H. Russell place on Merrimack street in the Pleasant Valley district.

The driver claims that the little girl was riding on the rear end of a wagon and just as he was to pass she jumped off and stepped directly in front of the automobile. Anderson had three women passengers, Mrs. M. Arnold, Mrs. Clara Arnold and Mrs. Arthur McCauley of Havert Hill. After the accident he drove to the local police station, Assistant Medical Examiner Reed viewed the body and said the child had several ribs broken and died from shock.

Judge Rogers, after considering the statements of Anderson and Chief of Police Nimo, decided to release Anderson without making any charge against him. No further action will be taken until after the inquest.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

MRS. ANNA CATANIA FOUND NOT GUILTY OF KILLING AGGRIPINO PINO CAPRA

BOSTON, June 17.—Mrs. Anna Catania of Chelsea, who has been on trial for her life before Judge Chase and a jury in the Suffolk superior court for the past week, on the charge of killing Agrippino Capra on the morning of October 2, was found not guilty at 8:15 last night. Capra died from the effects of two bullet and three stab wounds.

Mrs. Catania took the stand in her own defense and stated that the killing was done by her husband, who returned to the Chelsea house, after taking their oldest child and deserting her, gained entrance by using a ladder to reach a window and discovered Capra. He then fired the shots and used the knife, she said.

Mrs. Catania is the mother of an 11-month-old infant, who has been in jail with her since her arrest.

FAVOR MODESTY IN DRESS

MRS. PENNYBACKER HEADS FEDERATION AGAIN—MARGARET WILSON LEADS IN SINGING

CHICAGO, June 17.—George J. Kneeland, director of the department of investigation of the American Social Hygiene association, told the General Federation of Women's Clubs in convention here yesterday that a startling minority of immoral girls come from homes other than those of poverty and ignorance.

His agents in the last year have gathered histories of 300 girls not yet professionally immoral, but well started on the downward path. Contrary to the general impression that the majority of these girls are feeble-minded or sub-moral, Mr. Kneeland said the majority were intelligent. Resolutions adopted yesterday recommended simple, becoming and modest designs in dress, the services of the home economic division to further the Smith-Lever bill in congress to establish a bureau of home economics, increased appropriations for state and city boards of health, university extension work for the prevention of disease.

The resolutions also promised to cooperate with children's bureaus to prepare pamphlets for mothers on sex instruction for the children.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Texas was re-elected, and the entire ticket of the nominating committee was elected without opposition. Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president, led the delegates in the singing of Edwin Markham's song, "Brotherhood." When Mrs. Pennybacker introduced Miss Wilson the throng of delegates arose and waved and cheered her for fully 10 minutes.

SHAMROCK IV IS FASTEST OF CUP CHALLENGERS, SAY YACHTING SHARPS

Sir Thomas Lipton, Designer Nicholson and many other English yachting authorities, after seeing the maiden trial of the Shamrock IV, declare that she is the fastest of all the challengers for the America's cup. Captain Thomas Fleming Day, editor of the Rudder and skipper of the small craft Seabird and Detroit, which he sailed across the Atlantic, was present at the launching of the Shamrock IV. He said: "I have seen all the challengers for the America's cup from the Genesta in 1885, and this boat looks more like a winner than any of them. If she is not strained in crossing the ocean she will be very dangerous."

GALE OVER NEW ENGLAND

BLUSTERING WIND REACHES VELOCITY OF 30 MILES AN HOUR OVER BOSTON AND VICINITY

BOSTON, June 17.—Yesterday seemed far more like September than June, the blustering northwesterly gale, reaching a velocity of 30 miles an hour, making it seem colder than it really was. The range in temperature was from 56 to 66, the latter figure being attained late in the afternoon. By 3 o'clock, however, the mercury had fallen to 53 once more, with indications that it would go several degrees lower during the night.

A year ago yesterday the maximum here was 51. The showers which fell intermittently during the morning were caused by a disturbance over northern New England, which had its center over Eastport last night. The total rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 3 p. m. amounted only to .07 of an inch. High winds prevailed all over New England, the result of the disturbance of which Boston received the edge. Hail and snow flurries were reported to have fallen in Dorchester during the morning.

ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOL

Held 32nd Annual Entertainment in Playhouse Last Evening With Excellent Program

The annual commencement exercises of St. Patrick's Boys' school for years have been notable events drawing large and appreciative audiences even from beyond the boundaries of the parish. The 32nd annual was held in the Playhouse last evening, with a matinee for the children, during the afternoon and it was a repetition of the successes of former years. As the graduates annually receive their diplomas at religious services held in St. Patrick's church, the exercises of last evening were confined to a high class musical and dramatic entertainment which brought out strikingly the natural talent of the young men who took part and emphasized the careful and intelligent training of their tutors. Rev. Bro. O'Sullivan, who had general charge of the entertainment; Rev. Bro. O'Sullivan, the dramatic instructor and Prof. Charles N. Staden, the noted musical instructor, were responsible largely for the higher order of the program and the faultless manner in which it was presented and they were the recipients of congratulations and praise from the clergy members of the parish and the parents and friends of the pupils.

A lengthy, but evenly balanced and gracefully varied program was enjoyed, the principal feature of which was the presentation of the very recent and decidedly interesting Irish drama in five acts entitled "The Green Corn" of "The Glen of the House" with scenes laid in Kerry and Dublin in the year 1900. The cast of characters was as follows:

Sir Christopher Paresse, of Croloquo, Thomas H. Barden
Rancklyn Paresse, his first-born, James J. Gallagher
Donald O'Sullivan Paresse, inheritor of the spirit of Dunboy, John P. McNeill
Brian O'Hara, better known as Brine-Oce, Francis M. O'Loughlin
Skelton McClutchy, a solicitor, Benjamin W. Bernard
Darby Darrel, useless, still useful, James J. Daley
Paudeen Deyne, a boxer, Eugene Mullican
Ralph Remington, a detective, William Corcoran
Solomon Cheatham, the usual 100 p.c., Martin E. O'Connell Maudea Burke, general secretary, John J. Daley
The Lord Inquisitor, John J. Daley
Phelim, newsboy, Peter P. Daley
Mortimer, superintendent of R. L. P., William E. Leland
Johnny, elevator boy, Robert Shinkwin
Pensants—James J. Chatter, Thomas Brennan, John Courtney, Sene, Kerry and Dublin. Time: 1900.

The evening's program was formally opened with a march, "Adieu," by the Lowell Cadet orchestra, John J. Gilfillan, leader, and this was followed by the overture, "Light Cavalry." The first number by the sanctuary choir was "The Miller's Wooing."

"The Merry Workers" was an action chorus that shared with the best things of the evening. The characters and those who portrayed them were as follows: Doctor, Harold Brown, senator, Thomas Heslin; teacher, James O'Sullivan; blacksmith, Charles Kilroy; barber, Joseph Flannery; ironman, Francis Moran; undertaker, James Kiefer; sailor, William Kiefer; cobbler, Leo Conway; dentist, Francis Saunders; tailor, Michael Daly; baker, Thomas Furey; politician, John Cotter.

"The Jolly Tars," another action song was given by the following pupils: Harold P. Brown, Leo P. Miskell, Charles Kilroy, Edward T. Donovan, Fred G. Murphy, Arthur Higgins, Jan. T. O'Brien, James Cropper, George Ryan, Walter Miskell, James F. New-ton, James T. Kiefer, Thomas Molloy, Edward Harrington, Michael McLar-one, Dennis Sheahan, John McLar-mon, Timothy O'Sullivan, William Ashe, John D. Cotter, Michael Daly, John Lavery, Andrew Crowe, William Pures, William O'Sullivan, John Spill-lane, Francis Kelly, James J. Casey, Thomas Heslin, Daniel P. Brady, Jas. Olin, William McCready, John J. Re-nan, Francis Redding, Arthur Bron-nan, Charles Carr.

Another action song, "Ten Little Chinamen," all appearing in Chinese costume, included the following: Chas. P. Heslin, William H. Coyle, James P. Pures, Richard Welch, Edward P. Mullen, Edward C. Purcell, John H. Casey, James J. McMahon, William Brunette, John E. Sullivan, William C. Carey, Raymond J. Brady, Thomas Lannon, Joseph Regan, Daniel J. Cun-laghan, Timothy Stapleton, Fredrick J. Smith, Richard B. Clarke, Geo. J. Moroney, George J. Martin.

"Carmena," the second number by the sanctuary choir, received a well deserved encore.

"The Lecture on Realization," by Chairman John McMahon, was a clever bit of entertainment, while the chorus and action song, "The Tall Top Hat," in which the following pupils appeared, was also thoroughly enjoyed: R. P. O'Brien, Francis E. Del-more, Raymond J. Purcell, Francis W. Ryan, Peter Duran, Edward J. Ryan, John J. Regan, Leo P. Wholey, John P. Martin, William Brunette, John P. Neillan, Maurice F. Usher, James M. Manning, Joseph J. Alfano.

Master Raymond O'Brien was the soloist in the number, "You're A Grand Old Flag," and he was assisted by the choir. The play, "The Green Corn," was a masterpiece. The play, "The Green Corn," was a masterpiece. The play, "The Green Corn," was a masterpiece.

BRIDGE DISASTER

Herman Lemire, 15 years and residing at 129 Faneuil street, this city, both arms out, laceration at the back of the head and right leg bruised.

Edward Bouchard, aged 14 years and residing at 17 Watson street, received bad lacerations on the chest and forehead and probably a fractured skull. He was removed to the Lowell hospital.

William Cooby, a driver for Friend Bros., was in the store when the accident occurred and he also went down and sustained severe injuries. He was removed to Friend Bros. store and later to his home at 275 Appleton st., where he was treated by the family physician.

The injured were rushed to St. John's and Lowell hospitals in haste and in order to take care of all the injured the police patrol and two ambulances and other carriages were pressed into service. Several physicians went on hand at the hospital and in about one hour all the injured had been given treatment. The doctors at St. John's hospital stated that Joseph Belair was the most seriously injured, but it is believed that if his internal injuries are not too serious he will recover.

First Aid to Injured
Commissioner Morse was talking with Former Agent Taft when the building went down. The two men were standing within a few yards of the spot. I never saw anything like it in my life," said Mr. Morse. "Without the slightest note of warning the building came tumbling down. It sounded like an explosion and we thought for the moment that the entire bridge had gone down. There came the ringing of the fire bells and above them could be heard the cries of the men pinned under the iron beams. The blood was running from the mouth of one poor fellow who was pinned beneath a great iron beam and we went to his assistance as quickly as possible. We sent him to the hospital in my automobile.

Capt. Jeyes and Lieut. Waller were on the bridge when the accident happened and rushed down to administer first aid to the injured. They rendered valuable assistance all through the trying ordeal of getting the wounded out from under the iron beams and attending to their injuries in the best possible manner.

Medical Examiner Melis soon arrived on the scene and was of valuable assistance in directing the treatment and removal of the wounded. Sheriff Ewell and County Commissioner Lowell were also present soon after the accident and did all they possibly could to assist in taking care of the wounded and getting them out of the wreck.

Several fire companies came with all haste as a result of the alarm and they certainly did good work in lifting the pliers from the bodies of the injured men and searching the ruins in order to find whether any more were buried underneath.

After the injured had been taken from the ruins the railroad men had engines drawn up by which the heavy girders were pulled down the tracks. A large chain was put around a part of the fallen store and it was hauled bodily down the track by an engine.

No Trains on Track
There were no trains on the tracks when the accident occurred. If trains had been standing there and people had been rushing back and forth, getting off and on, there is no telling how serious might have been the result. The crash, however, came at a time when the tracks were clear, yet it was a miracle that a number of persons were not killed. Four men, two women and several children had passed under the bridge not more than two minutes before the accident and others were on their way to pass under when the crash came.

Girders Were Fault
It was stated that the iron girders and supports which gave way were in poor condition, that they had weakened by rusting near the ends.

The Bay State Street Railway company will not run any cars over the bridge until it has been pronounced safe by the proper authorities. The bridge was lined with people immediately after the accident and a squad of police was sent to clear it.

Missing Man Accounted For
A crew of 60 men was put to work without loss of time overhauling the debris as a persistent rumor had it that one man had been buried in the collapse. A thorough search failed to disclose the body and shortly after 11 o'clock it was announced that the missing man had been accounted for.

Boys Had Just Left
Every morning a number of boys have congregated at Barlow's store to overhaul the barrels put out by the proprietor in search of damaged fruit. This morning they had left the vicinity but a few minutes before the accident happened.

Two Men Escaped
Arthur T. Pelletier of Boston and Edward Olmstead of Lawrence, two employees of the bridge department of the Boston & Maine railroad, were at work on the girders of the bridge when the store crashed to the tracks below, but fortunately they were standing on and end of the girder that remained in place and thereby escaped injury.

Blockade at Depot
It required the combined efforts of the police and firemen to handle the crowds that surged in from everywhere and the blockade in the vicinity of the depot almost beggared description.

The noise of the bridge collapsing sounded like an explosion or explosion and was heard for quite a distance away. People came on foot, in teams and in automobiles and despite the best efforts of the police and firemen traffic was more or less delayed. Men and boys insisted upon mounting the stairs leading from the station platform to the bridge and two officers were kept busy clearing the stairs until such time as fences were built at either end. There were five wires dangling in Westford street and they were attended to as quickly as possible.

The yard men and freight house gang were called to the scene of the accident and they assisted in clearing away the debris. Members of the wrecking crew arrived early and it did not take them long to clear the tracks. Everything was reported in running order by 11 o'clock.

Cause of the Trouble
Bridge men, as has been heretofore stated, had been working on the trusses, supporting the little building that collapsed, for several days, and it in

MEXICAN CONGRESS REMAINS IN SESSION BY HUERTA'S ORDERS PENDING THE CRISIS

MEXICO CITY, June 17.—The extended session of the chamber of deputies did not come to an end when scheduled. The congress was ordered to continue in session by Huerta until after the peace negotiations had ended. Meanwhile Huerta's men in the field are meeting with constant reverses. The crisis of Mexican affairs is expected at any day. The deputies will stand firmly behind Huerta, and an appeal will be made to all Mexicans, federals and rebels alike, to unite against the American invasion in case war is declared.

believed that in the course of repairs, the supports were weakened. The trusses or girders gave way on the Appleton street end of the bridge. This is evidenced by the fact that the supports on that end have disappeared while the supports on the other side remain intact, showing that the trusses on the opposite side simply dropped from their supports.

As is always the case in accidents of this kind, those are those who will say "I told you so." But in this particular instance it appears that quite a number of persons have, within the last three or four weeks, or since the bridge men began their operations, expressed the belief that there was danger of the building toppling over because, it is stated, the little building was fast to waver at times.

A group of men boarding in a house close to the bridge have, it is alleged, repeatedly expressed the belief that something would happen there. One of them said: "It did not seem to us that the store was properly supported and I made the remark that it would fall before long. From the nature of the work that was being done on the bridge, it seemed almost literally to hang in the air. When the accident occurred today, I was obliged to say I had anticipated it."

Authorities Will Investigate
The railroad will investigate the cause of the accident and engineers are already at work examining into the details. It was suggested this afternoon that the city authorities should take a hand in the investigation and that the bridge itself should be thoroughly gone over.

Only Few Passengers
The fact that this is a holiday in Boston may have saved others from injury, fatal or otherwise. Ordinarily the Boston train that leaves Boston just before 5 o'clock accommodates a large number of Highland people who are in the habit of running into Mr. Barlow's store to buy a paper. Because of the holiday in Boston the number of people this morning was not as large as usual, but a number of men had been in and out of the store within ten minutes of the accident.

When the Boston train pulled in a number of persons were standing on the platform near where the building fell, and it is certain that the accident occurred as the train pulled through, the list of injured must have been much larger.

Almost An Eye Witness
The writer was sitting in the office of the Richardson hotel awaiting a car for Westford when the building tumbled. "Engine exploded!" shouted a man in the street, and everybody went past haste to the depot. The cause of the unusual disturbance was quickly discovered, however, but it was impossible to tell how serious was the result. The noise resembled that of an explosion and looking toward the bridge from midway of the depot it looked as if the bridge itself had collapsed. There were at least 500 people on the scene within five minutes of the accident and the police were obliged to handle some of them pretty roughly in order to clear the way for the real workers.

The Houghland boy, the most seriously injured of them all, was the first to be rescued. It was impossible to recognize the lad as he was pulled out of the debris still enveloped in clouds of dust. He declared that he was not seriously injured and pleaded to be taken home rather than to the hospital. "There are some other fellows there, look out for them," said the brave little fellow as he half-swooned on the big baggage truck where the man had laid him. It was very plain that the boy was seriously injured and he was removed to the Lowell hospital. Little Edward Bouchard is a hero.

Joseph Belair
At the time of going to press, Mr. Belair, the most seriously injured, was holding his own, although in a very serious condition.

MANNING FAMILY REUNION

THE MANNING MANSE AT NORTH BILLERICA

Held at the Old Manse in Billerica Today—Over 150 Assembled at the Annual Dinner

The old and historic Manning manse located on the Chelmsford road, North Billerica, never presented a more pleasing appearance than today when over 150 descendants of the old Manning family gathered to observe the 15th annual reunion of the Manning association. The weather was ideal for the occasion and the greater part of the day was spent on the spacious lawn and athletic fields adjoining the building.

For many years June 17 has been a very important date in the minds of the members of the Manning association and each year they gather from parts near and far to exchange hand shakes and enjoy a few hours together while a short business session is also held.

Today, the number present was even greater than that of last year and when the dinner bell sounded at 1 o'clock nearly 200 people assembled around the festive board to enjoy a dinner prepared and served by the employees of the Manning manse. Speaking followed and later the members assembled to elect officers for the coming year.

The Manning manse is one of Billerica's oldest and most widely advertised residences and is located at a point about two miles from the North Billerica postoffice. The buildings were erected in the year 1699 and since that time have been almost continually in the hands of the Manning family. The buildings and several acres of land are now owned by the Manning association and Warren H. Manning acts as custodian, having full charge. Recently modern improvements were made and a few years ago an auxiliary house was built across the street which is occupied by another member of the family.

As the people began to arrive in North Billerica shortly before noon today carriages were dispatched to the postoffice and the Fordway bridge to convey them to the manse. At 12.30 the carriages had been over the road many times and the people gathered in the main building where they were met by the reception committee and asked to sign their names in the register which contains the signatures of those who have attended the annual reunions for many years past.

At 1 o'clock all gathered around a number of tables which were placed under a large canvas tent and after prayer was offered the many good things which were placed on the table were partaken of with great enjoyment. Many of the older members of the family were then called upon to relate their experiences at past reunions or to make other interesting remarks, after which a short business session was held and officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year.

The present officers of the association are: President, Capt. Charles H. Manning of Manchester, N. H.; vice president, Guy Merion, Woburn; secretary and treasurer, Warren H. Manning, No. Billerica; historian, William H. Manning, West Somerville; entertainment committee, Mrs. Earl G. Manning, Joseph McCabe, Elizabeth M. Houghton, Herbert Manning, Prentice C. Manning and Mrs. Edward W. Walker; reception committee, Mrs. Leroy Parkhurst, Miss Martha Warren, Frank M. Short, Mrs. Mabel Hall, Miss Isella Hallway, Miss Elizabeth Fullerton, Miss Olive McCabe, and Mrs. N. D. Marble.

OUTING FOR ORPHANS
The annual outing of the children of the French-American orphanage is being held today at the home of Pierre Tremblay, superintendent of St. Joseph's cemetery in East Chelmsford. The affair was organized by the Sisters of Charity of Quebec, who are in charge of the institution and was made possible through the courtesy of a number of local business men who graciously supplied automobiles to transport the little ones to the picnic grounds.

The children who attended the outing numbered about 250, including boys and girls and the procession of 20 automobiles containing the youngsters, which went through the principal streets of the city this forenoon was an interesting spectacle. The boys and girls were dressed in line and carried tiny American flags and en route they filled the air with melodious singing. The party left the orphanage in Pawtucket street shortly after 9 o'clock and the automobiles instead of going through Gorham street as it had been planned at first, drove their machines up Middlesex street in order to give the children an opportunity to witness the debris of the accident at the railroad station.

The party arrived at the picnic grounds shortly after 10 o'clock and the boys and girls were then given entire freedom to amuse themselves and outdoor sports were then started. At noon a dainty dinner was served on the green and the afternoon was spent in games and amusements of all sorts, while ice cream and other refreshments were served.

The children were in charge of 23 sisters headed by the superior, Sister Beatrice, and the following young women also aided materially in bringing the affair to a successful conclusion: Angeline Blais, Anne Marie Vallancourt, Bernadette Lamontagne, Georgiana Dumas and Irene Bordenave.

Those who so generously supplied automobiles for the trip were as follows: J. L. Chaffoux Co., Adolphe Lamontagne, Elie Dube, J. J. Begun, Dr. A. J. Gagnon, J. H. Beaulieu, Charles Cote, Napoleon Cossette, Joseph A. Lezard, Amodee Archambault, Paul Vignaret, Arthur Genest, Arthur J. Camusseau, Dr. G. O. Lavallee, J. B. Pelnaud, Joseph Albert, J. A. Gervais, Wilfrid Blouin, Joseph Martin, Louis Laframboise, Joseph Gagnon, George E. Mongeau, Severin Beaudry, Frank Ricard, J. B. Morin, Thaddeus Rodolphe, Avila Sawyer and Ephrem Pelletier.

LUCKY BOY

Little Vincent, in company with his favorite playmates, had been gleefully pranking in boyish fashion, when, unexpectedly the voice of his mother was heard calling—Vincent! "Yes, mother," was the quick response of little Vincent, "I'll come right along." And as Vincent emerged from the vacant lot which adjoins his father's house; his good mother admonished him in his forgetfulness to perform an errand she had earlier dispatched him with to Coburn's. "Well, I'm sorry mother," replied Vincent, manfully, "but I will go at once." "No," interrupted his mother, "you needn't bother now, for I have decided to phone the order to Coburn's."

Shortly afterwards, one of Coburn's Lippard-Stewart Delivery Cars, noiselessly entered the driveway and the goods which Mrs. Wisely had ordered, were delivered at the back door. Upon reflection, Mrs. Wisely was just as well pleased that she hadn't given Vincent such a journey on that hot day, so when Vincent's father returned home that evening he was not apprised of the little fellow's negligence.

FEDERAL LEAGUE CAN TAKE ALL PLAYERS WHO ASK TO JOIN OUTLAWS

CHICAGO, June 17.—The Federal league can wreck from a playing standpoint the two big leagues within 20 days if it cares to sign all the players who have asked to be taken over, according to a statement here today by James A. Gilmore, president of the federals. Gilmore repeated his statement that 40 players are ready to leave National and American leagues but would not say how many of them would be absorbed at this time.

The Chicago American league team which so far has escaped the Federal raids intact, will lose other players besides Chase, who will play his last game in a White Sox uniform a week from tomorrow. Scott, Russell, Weaver, Leach and Blackburn are players the White Sox will lose, according to the report.

SUES FOR $50,000

MRS. HOLMAN CLAIMS FORMER HUSBAND AND DOCTORS KEPT HER ILLEGALLY IN ASYLUM

HARTFORD, June 17.—The sensational suit of Mrs. Elizabeth A. C. Holman of Waterville, Me., against Rev. Cranston Brenton of Yonkers, N. Y., formerly her husband and now playfellow, is attracting wide attention at Hartford, Conn., where the suit is being heard. Mrs. Holman is suing for $50,000 damages for having been confined in a Brattleboro, Vt., asylum in 1912 and kept there until she confessed indiscretions with Frederick Ernst Holman, her present husband. Fervent love letters from Holman to the then Mrs. Brenton were read in court.

ST. JOSEPH'S ALUMNI

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE HELD A MEETING LAST NIGHT AND MADE ARRANGEMENTS FOR REUNION

The executive committee of St. Joseph's college alumni held a meeting last evening and made arrangements for the third annual outing, banquet and reunion of the members, which will be held on Thursday, Aug. 13. Committees for the event were appointed and a list of out-of-town guests was made up.

The meeting was presided over by President W. P. Calise, Jr., and the treasurer's report showed the organization to be in good financial order. The recent entertainment given under the auspices of the alumni was very successful and a substantial sum was turned over in the treasury.

In reference to the annual event of the association it was decided that the members attend a high mass at St. Joseph's church at 10 o'clock on the morning of Aug. 13, and at 1 o'clock special electric cars will be boarded for the outing grounds. In the evening a banquet will be held at the college hall in Merrimack street, which will be elaborately decorated for the occasion, and the report will be followed by the annual meeting in the course of which officers will be chosen for the ensuing year.

The various committees appointed to look after all arrangements are as follows:

Church: Frederick E. Jodoin, chairman; Joseph F. Montminy and Isidore J. Trudel.

Outing: Eugene Ricard and John B. Richard.

Sports: Arthur Giroux, chairman; R. E. Jodoin, W. P. Calise, Jr. and I. J. Trudel.

Tickets: Bro. Bernardin, chairman; Arthur D. Lamoureux and A. Giroux.

Invitations: J. F. Montminy, chairman; J. B. Richard and W. P. Calise.

Souvenir program: J. B. Richard, chairman; A. D. Lamoureux; Sam R. Parent and W. A. Dragon.

Banquet: Eugene Ricard, chairman; R. E. Jodoin and A. Giroux.

Refreshments: A. D. Lamoureux, chairman; J. F. Montminy and S. S. Parent.

be the president, Mr. Calise.

Among the guests who are expected to attend the festivities are Bro. Chrysostom of Montreal, Que., and Bro. Priscillanus of Quebec, two former principals of the school; Rev. Joseph M. Blais, O. M. I. of Plattsburg, N. Y.; Rev. V. C. Choquette of Malden; Justice Victor Boire of Plattsburg and Xavier Delisle of Washington, D. C., all former pupils.

At the meeting last night it was voted to donate the sum of $25 to the school for a gold medal and other prizes which will be given the graduates at the coming exercises.

The executive committee of the alumni is composed of the following: W. P. Calise, Jr., president; John B. Richard, vice president; Joseph F. Montminy, treasurer; Arthur Giroux, secretary; Wilmer A. Dragon, assistant secretary; Frederick E. Jodoin, Eugene Ricard, Isidore J. Trudel, Arthur D. Lamoureux, Sam S. Parent and Bro. Bernardin, directors.

at the seminary of St. Joseph, the mother-house of the society, at which Fr. Gookin renewed his vows and re-was admitted to all the sacred orders

mass at the church of the Immaculate Conception, Lowell, Sunday, June 21, at 11 o'clock. He will stay at the home of his mother until he receives the notification of his mission from his superior general, Rev. Justin McCarty.

tion of Fr. Gookin was Sister Helen Rita of the Sisters of Charity, Elizabeth St., N. J. Before her entrance into religion, Sister Helen Rita was Miss Gookin, a sister of the ordained,
a former teacher in the Better school.
Prior to the ordination of her brother,
Sister Helen was appointed to take charge of a geological expedition to Niagara Falls and southern Canada.
This honor she willingly surrendered that she might be present at the ordination of her brother.

Eight Injured in Accident to Chelmsford Street Bridge — No Fatalities — Fire- men and Police Called to Scene — Wreckage Viewed by Thousands

About 9 o'clock this morning the news was flashed throughout the city that the Chelmsford street bridge spanning the railroad tracks at the Middlesex street station had collapsed and fallen to the tracks forty feet below, taking with it timbers, girders, poles, roofing and the fruit store of Irving Barlow on Chelmsford street.

The first query was whether anybody was killed, whether a street car had fallen with the bridge from the car tracks overhead or whether any number of people had been buried in the debris when the bridge collapsed.

It required a considerable time to discover the extent of the damage and the number of people injured.
It was found that two girders of the bridge had fallen but the overhead road had not gone down.

The excitement that followed the accident brought hundreds of people to the scene and when it was found that a number of men were injured, several fire companies were called to avert the danger of a conflagration while the ambulances were promptly on the scene to remove the injured to St. John's hospital.

Among those who went down with the bridge were: Armand Lemire, Edward Bouchard and William Corby with several iron workers of the Boston and Maine. The fire companies got to work promptly searching the ruins for wounded and seven were taken out.

After the smoke had cleared away it was found that the little house in which Barlow's store was located had gone down carrying with it several of the iron girders, but the stability of the main bridge was not affected. The iron workers had been at work repairing the bridge for several days and it is believed that the supports to the building may have in some way become weakened.

The railroad tracks were piled high with the debris and engines were called into requisition to pull away the iron beams and that portion of the building that remained intact.

Mr Barlow's Escape

Irving Barlow, proprietor of the store that went crashing to the tracks without a moment's notice, is a lucky man.
He had just crossed the threshold of his door to speak to Dennis Cooney and Jack Ryan, who were standing on the bridge, when the crash came. The crash came without warning and when Mr. Barlow looked around his store and its contents were on the tracks below.
His first fear was for the three boys in the store and when he found they had not been killed he heaved a sigh of relief.

List of Injured

Among the men injured were five employees of the bridge department of the Boston & Maine railroad and two young men in the employ of Irving

Barlow, owner of the store that went down.

Two other employees of the railroad company who were at work with their companions on the girders under the bridge miraculously escaped injury.

The injured are as follows:
Wilbur Tremblay, 47 years and residing in Nashua, N. H., had laceration of the upper lip and bruises to the right eye and face.

Mary J. Broderick, 22 years, and residing in North Adams, 231 Eagle street, contusion of the back, contusion of the right leg, fracture of rib and laceration of the right thumb.

JAS. E. O'DONNELL
Counsellor at Law
Room 220, 45 Merrimack St.

Sylvia Bellevance, 32 years and residing in Attleboro, contusion at base of spine.

Ernest Delude, residing in Nashua,
N. H., contusion over the right shoulder and lacerations on arms.

Joseph Belair residing in Gardner,
Mass., broken ribs, injury to head,
fracture of elbow and internal injuries.

LOWELL AND LAWRENCE

Police Ball Teams Clash at Spalding Park This Afternoon — Big Turnout—Lowell Won

The Lowell and Lawrence police ball teams held forth under perfect weather conditions at Spalding park this afternoon, after a postponement from yesterday on account of the inclemency of the weather.

The big disaster which befell the city this morning wasn't of sufficient importance to keep the local cops away for only one alarm of fire was rung in and the fact that both Mayor Murphy and the "Big Chief" were out of town didn't cause a postponement either.

There was a fair attendance at the game including several of the ex-cops now on pension. A most welcome visitor to the grounds was Lieut. John B.
Crowley, who received a "hand" as he entered and who was accorded a special seat under the direct rays of a most benign sun. Lieut. Crowley, despite his critical illness and its distressing results looks fine in the face and has just none of his old-time genuity and he rooted and cheered with all the vim of a supernumerary, punching his first drink.

Ed. Shea, the sweet voiced announcer officialized as umpire and having had experience in the box was had no fears of what might happen from a bunch of Irish greaves. As Ed announced the line-up he remarked: "The late John T. Kelly, the rallying mill man used to deplore the fact that on St. Patrick's Day all Irish parades were headed by German bands but here is an Irish ball team captained by a downer, by gum!" The captain of the Lowell team is Arthur
Drewett affectionately called "Feet"
Drewett, on account of his ability to run bases and drunks.

The Lawrence team presented in their lineup the commissioner who presides over the destinies of the police department, Commissioner Cadogan, who was formerly a police inspector himself, and a good one at that if he did get canned on account of politics but then Lawrence politics are funny and this is a report of a ball game.
Tom Whittaker, "You know Tom"
Drewett, on account of his ability to
run bases and drunks.

Lowell opened up with a tally, which means a run in the first on a double to right field by Jack Kelly, who took third on a passed ball while he came home on Ahearn's overthrow to third to get him. Lawrence was easy. Murray struck out. Cadogan fled out to Kelly. Ahearn looked good with a three base hit to deep left. But Sharkey struck out Hewitt. Sharkey is some pitcher if he is a cop. Lawrence looked like a score in the second. Killpartrick was hit by Sharkey and the bump was so hard that Ahearn ran for him and Ahearn stole second and went to third on Dubamel's infield out. Ahearn got hold and attempted to get home on a short passed ball, but they got him on the line and he went out. Kelly to Guthrie and back again to Kenny.
Lawrence got to first only in the third when Wadlin reached third on Dan

50,000 SEE BIG BONFIRE

"NIGHT BEFORE" CELEBRATION OF
139TH ANNIVERSARY OF BATTLE
OF BUNKER HILL

BOSTON, June 17.—A great crowd, numbering about 50,000 persons, gathered in the Sullivan square playground, Charlestown, last night, for the bonfire, one of the best and largest seen in Greater Boston in many years. This feature of the "night before" celebration of the 139th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill was arranged entirely by business men and women in the vicinity of Sullivan Square.

The massive pile of railroad ties, which cost several hundred dollars, all of which was contributed by residents of Charlestown, was 67 feet high, with a base 50 feet square.

Inside the great pile of ties were all sorts of inflammable material, old barrels, boxes, pieces of wood and oil-soaked material which helped to make the enormous structure blaze furiously the moment the torch was applied.

Promptly at 10 the anxious crowd, many of whom had been waiting more than an hour, made way for members of the committee in charge of the exercises, who escorted Councilor Daniel J. McDonald, chairman of the city committee on Bunker Hill Day celebration, to the base of the structure and he applied the torch. The fire spread rapidly and soon dense volumes of smoke arose, followed by flames.

The heat grew intense and drove these nearest the pile back in all directions. The sky was brilliantly illuminated and it appeared as if Charlestown was again visited by a great fire along the waterfront.

The arrangements for the bonfire were carefully made by the committee, which comprised Hon. Richard S. Teeling, Edward Murphy, George Finn, John Nelson and Arthur Seche.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING

EDWARD SHANNON TOOK BOY FROM CONCORD—PULMOTOR DID THE REST

The pulmotor which was purchased by the city some time ago was used in an effective manner late yesterday afternoon in bringing back to life Paul Bechard, aged 3 years, of 263 Fayette street, who came very nearly being drowned in the Concord river. The little fellow is now at St. John's hospital and out of danger.

According to companions of the little fellow, who were playing on the banks of the river, Bechard threw himself into the water and attempted to swim as he had seen some of the older boys doing. The child was unconscious of any danger, but his loud cries, when he found himself sinking, attracted the attention of Edward Shannon, who leaped into the water to the rescue. The lad was sinking for the second time when Shannon reached him and succeeded in towing him to shore.

A hurry call for the ambulance was sent in and while awaiting the arrival of the ambulance the little fellow was rolled over and over on a barrel, and every effort was made to revive him but without result. Dr. John J. Donovan brought the pulmotor to the scene of the accident and after considerable work the little fellow was brought back to life. He was then rushed to St. John's hospital, where today he is resting comfortably. The accident occurred near the bridge in Church street.

GIRL KILLED BY AUTO

ASUNTA MINICUCCI, AGED 8, OF
HAVERHILL, RUN DOWN IN METHUEN

METHUEN, June 8.—Asunta Minicucci, aged 8, was killed by an automobile driven by Ralph Anderson of Haverhill about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon near the John H. Russell place on Merrimack street in the Pleasant Valley district.

The driver claims that the little girl was riding on the rear end of a wagon and just as he was to pass she jumped off and stepped directly in front of the automobile. Anderson had three women passengers, Mrs. T. M. Arnold, Mrs. Clara Arnold and Mrs. Arthur McNeill of Haverhill. After the accident he drove to the local police station. Assistant Medical Examiner Fred Stow the body and said the child had several ribs broken and died from shock.

Judge Rogers, after considering the statements of Anderson and Chief of Police Nimo, decided to release Anderson without making any charge against him. No further action will be taken until after the inquest.

GUILTY OF KILLING AGGRIP-
PINO CAPRA

BOSTON, June 17.—Mrs. Anna Catania, of Chelsea, who has been on trial for her life before Judge Chase and a jury in the Suffolk superior court for the past week, on the charge of killing Agrippino Capra on the morning of October 3, was found not guilty at 8.15 last night. Capra died from the effects of two bullet and three stab wounds.

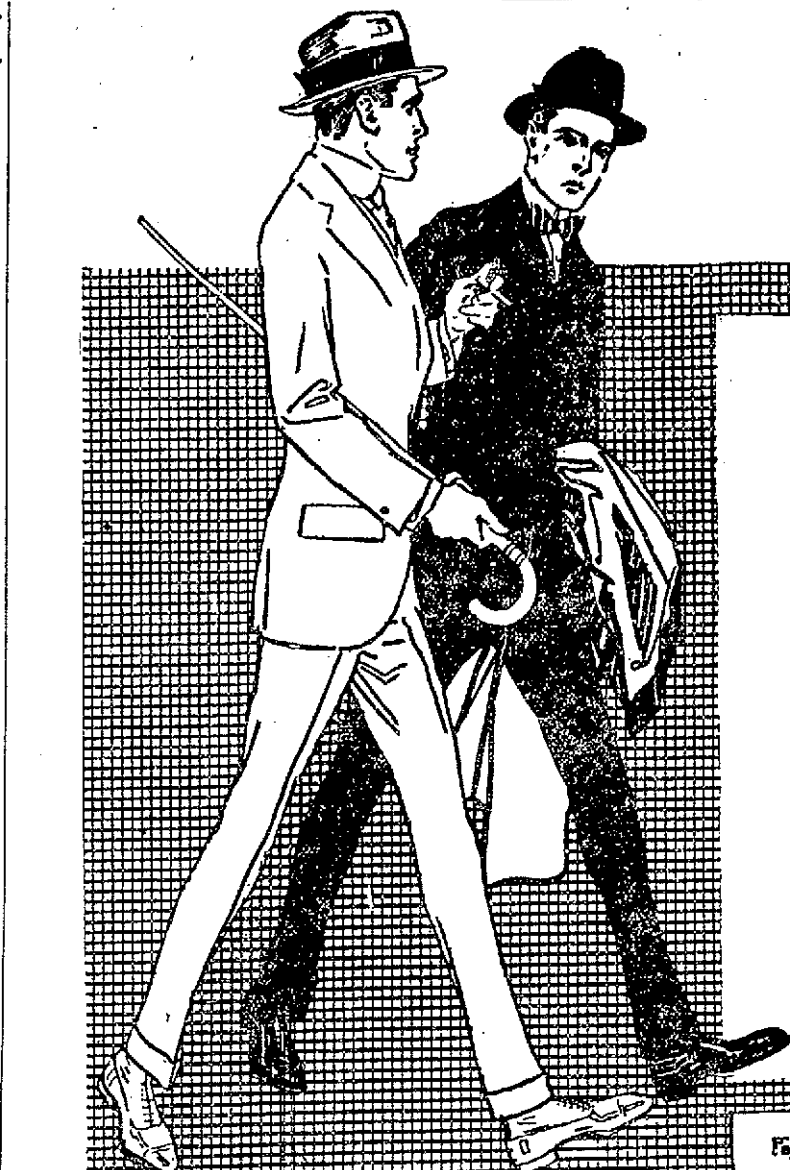

Mrs. Catania took the stand in her own defense and stated that the killing was done by her husband, who returned to the Chelsea home after taking their oldest child and deserting her, gained entrance by using a ladder to reach a window and discovered Capra. He then fired the shots and used the knife, she said.

Mrs. Catania is the mother of an 11-months-old infant, who has been in jail with her since her arrest.

FAVOR MODESTY IN DRESS

MRS. PENNYBACKER HEADS FED-ERATION AGAIN—MARGARET
WILSON LEADS IN SINGING

CHICAGO, June 17.—George J. Kneeland, director of the department of investigation of the American Social Hygiene association, told the General Federation of Women's Clubs in convention here yesterday that a startling minority of immoral girls come from homes other than those of poverty and ignorance.

His agents in the last year have gathered histories of 300 girls not yet professionally immoral, but well started on the downward path. Contrary to the general impression that the majority of these girls are feeble-minded or sub-moral, Mr. Kneeland said the majority were intelligent.

Resolutions adopted yesterday recommended simple, becoming and modest designs in dress, the services of the home economic division to further the Smith-Lever bill in congress to establish a bureau of home economics, increased appropriations for state and city boards of health, university extension work for the prevention of disease.

The resolutions also promised to co-operate with children's bureaus to prepare pamphlets for mothers on sex instruction for the children.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Texas was re-elected, and the entire ticket of the nominating committee was elected without opposition.

Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president, led the delegates in the singing of Edwin Markham's song, "Brotherhood." When Mrs. Pennybacker introduced Miss Wilson the throng of delegates arose and waved and cheered her for fully 10 minutes.

He said: "I have seen all the challengers for the America's cup from the Genesta in 1885, and this boat looks more like a winner than any of them. GALE OVER NEW ENGLAND

BLUSTERING WIND REACHES VE-
LOCITY OF 30 MILES AN HOUR
OVER BOSTON AND VICINITY

BOSTON, June 17.—Yesterday seemed far more like September than June, the blustering northwesterly gale, reaching a velocity of 30 miles an hour, making it seem colder than it really was. The range in temperature was from 56 to 66, the latter figure being attained late in the afternoon. By 5 o'clock, however, the mercury had fallen to 53 once more, with indications that it would go several degrees lower during the night.

A year ago yesterday the maximum here was 91. The showers which fell intermittently during the morning were caused by a disturbance over northern New England, which had its center over Eastport last night. The total rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 8 p. m. amounted only to .07 of an inch. High winds prevailed all over New England, the result of the disturbance of which Boston received the edge. Hail and snow flurries were reported to have fallen in Rochester during the morning.

REVENGE IS STILL SWEET

Lawrence Evens Up for Monday's Defeat—Lowell Batters Helpless Before Thompson

(From Lawrence Telegram)
LAWRENCE, June 17.—Lawrence took another game from Lowell at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon, making the sixth victory in seven games played so far this season between the two teams. The score was 6 to 2, and incidentally it was the third win for Harry Thompson over the Lowell bunch. Particularly enough Thompson is credited with the only defeat Lowell has given Lawrence this season, for he pitched the ninth inning of Monday's game when Lowell pushed over the run that beat Lawrence, 10 to 9.

Thompson pitched good ball yesterday, allowing but five hits. For the most part he made the Lowell batters hit into the air, and the majority of them went out on fly balls. O'Connell, Luyster and Peplowski had 10 put-outs in the outfield and the infielders had a few more on fly balls.

Lawrence got only five assists in the entire nine innings, and Lynch hogged every one of them. In this respect the game was peculiar, and more so because Aubrey at first base got only three chances to make put-outs.

Lawrence practically won the game in the first inning, due to Sherk's ineffectiveness. Sherk was batted out of the box in Monday's game, and it was at his own request that Manager Jimmy Gray sent him to the mound yesterday. But he did not last long, for on a combination of plays the home talent pushed over four runs in the first session.

Maybom succeeded Sherk in the box with the bases filled and two down in the first round, and from then to the end of the game he pitched good ball.

Mike Lynch did the best hitting of the day, bagging out three sharp singles, and Bruggy connected for two safeties. O'Connell and Bruggy each stole second base twice, O'Connell being forced to earn his two.

Burke put a nice game in the field for the Lowell team and Stimpson got under several difficult drives. The latter played a deep left field, and ordinarily a few of the clouds that went in his direction would have been good for extra base hits.

After Lowell went out in order O'Connell worked his way for a start in the latter half and stole second. Lynch fanned but Luyster made good with a long fly ball out to the fence, heard and O'Connell scored. Luyster went from second to third when Stimpson fumbled the ball trying to field it. Bruggy fouled off several and was then finally passed. He stole second, Matthews then dropped a line drive from Mahoney's bat, the ball rolling to right field and Luyster and Bruggy scored. Mahoney ramped to second when Sherk uncorked a wild pitch, Conley went up a high fly that fell into the hands of Peplowski. Luyster went to third, Conley then stole second and the bases were filled when Peplowski got hit by a pitched ball. Aubrey put up a fly to Matthews for the second out, but Thompson worked a pass and Mahoney was forced over the rubber. Manager Gray thought that Sherk had enough by this time and he pulled him out and Mahoney was sent to the mound. With the bases still filled and Maybom in the slot, O'Connell stepped to the plate, but he hit an easy one to Burke and was out at first.

Stimpson was passed for a start in the second and went to second on a wild pitch. After Matthews struck out, Stimpson raced to third on a short pass ball. Greenhalge hit a boundary to Conley but he made a wide throw to the plate and Stimpson scored. Kelly struck out. Greenhalge stole second, but he died there when Lynch took Wacob's grounder in deep short and threw him out at first.

In the fourth O'Connell batted and was safe on Kelly's tumble. He stole second for the second time and scored on Lynch's single over Matthews' head. Luyster hit a grounder to Lee and Lynch was forced at second. Bruggy followed with a single to left and Luyster went to second. Both runners were hit, however, for Mahoney died to Peplowski and Conley lifted a high one to Lee.

Stimpson began the sixth with a single over Lynch's head, the second hit made off Thompson. Matthews fanned, but Greenhalge knocked a hot one off Lynch's shins, the ball rolling to left field. Stimpson went around to third and on the throw Greenhalge went to second. Stimpson then scored on Kelly's fly to Peplowski. Wacob hit a fast one to Lynch, but he picked it clean and shot the ball to Conley who caught Greenhalge going to third. There was no more scoring.

In the eighth Stimpson was out at first on a fast play by Lynch. Matthews then pitched a single inside yard. Greenhalge died out to Peplowski, but Kelly was safe on a hot by Lynch. There was no scoring, for Wacob hit an easy pop to Mahoney.

For Lawrence, Aubrey was thrown out by Lee. Thompson got credit for a scratch hit to Kelly. O'Connell made it two out on a fly to Conley. Lynch followed with a single to right, his third of the game, and Thompson went to third. Luyster was passed and with the bases filled Bruggy hit to Burke, who touched third for a force-out.

Weaver went to bat for Maybom in the ninth and was passed. Doe made it one out on a fly to Luyster.

HAVERHILL LOST

Lowell High Takes Fast Schoolboy Contest From Visitors

Lowell high shut out Haverhill high yesterday afternoon at Spaulding park in a 2-0 game. The contest was fast throughout the nine innings with few exceptions and was easily the best schoolboy game seen in Lowell this season.

Wilson was on the mound for the local team and Haverhill could do nothing with his delivery. Only four hits were authorized by the visitors. Gleason, who pitched good ball for the Lowell high, pitched good ball and gave Lowell high but six safeties.

The two runs were scored by the local high school in the fifth. Palm walked and two men were on when Duffy batted out a hit. Meyer filled the sacks with another slow roller. Hart scored Palm and Duffy with two out, with a single to right.

In the fourth inning Edwards, Lowell high's stubby catcher, received a dislocated finger behind the plate. A foul tip struck him on the tip of the injured member and he was forced to retire from the contest.

The score:

DUNDEE BEATS GALLANT

NEW YORKER TOO FAST FOR CHELSEA BOXER—YOUNG JASPER WON THE SEMI-FINAL

BOSTON, June 17.—Johnny Dundee, the New York lightweight, had an easy time winning from Johnny Gallant of Chelsea last night at the Atlas A. A. the towel being thrown in the ring at the end of the eighth round by Gallant's manager. It was a wise act, for if Gallant had any chance it was gone when he returned to his corner.

Dundee was too fast and clever for the Chelsea lad, who has lost all the form he displayed when he was a crack amateur. Dundee jumped about the ring and picked in with his faster than any dancing master, and he had Gallant so completely puzzled that all the blows that Gallant landed were a couple of rights on the cheek and some on the ribs.

EDDIE M'GAMWELL WITH HAVERHILL

The Former Lowell First Baseman Procured by Dan Clohecy

Was With Local Team in 1912—Has Had Varied Career

EDDIE M'GAMWELL

Dan Clohecy, owner of the Haverhill club and dictator of its policies, has evidently decided to spend a little coin on his club, for word was received this morning that Eddie McGamwell had been signed to play the first sack.

McGamwell is well known to local fandom for he was with the Lowell club in 1912 when he and Jack Halstead alternated on the initial sack. Eddie came to Lowell through a deal whereby Bill Conney, at that time playing shortstop for Lowell, went to Haverhill, with which club the big left handed first baseman was playing at the time.

From Lowell McGamwell went to Bridgeport in the Eastern association, he and Jake Boules being teammates for a time. McGamwell's return to the New England league and to his former owner simply goes to show the roaming tendencies of a ball player's life. The addition of the former Lowell first wacker ought to bolster up the Haverhill infield.

NOTRE DAME ACADEMY

processional the guests of the occasion filed into the places reserved for them; then followed the graduates two by two dressed in white and with face veils. The eight girls sat on the left immediately in front of the altar. At the end of the procession the officiating clergy marched up the aisle attended by the acolytes. Seated within the sanctuary during the ceremonies were Monsignor O'Brien and Rev. Dr. Keleher of St. Peter's.

Immediately after the gospel, Rev. William J. O'Brien, master of ceremonies called the names of the graduates in order and they immediately left their places and walked within the sanctuary where they received their diplomas from Monsignor O'Brien in front of the high altar. Those who received diplomas were:

Academic course—Miss Helen Crowley, Miss Irene Lawler, Miss Louise Mahoney, Miss Gertrude O'Brien, Miss Madeline Sullivan, Miss Leah Wyzanski.

Commercial course—Miss Eleanor McAdoo and Miss Rosa McEnaney.

Immediately after the conferring of graduation honors, Rev. Francis J. Mullin preached the sermon of the occasion which was, in part, as follows:

"You are surrounded today with relatives, friends and admirers, who join in joyful congratulations at the culmination of your school career, yet not entirely without apprehension, for all realize that you are about to face the world, and the world looks upon many things in a different light from that in which you see it. You have been extremely fortunate in receiving education founded on true ideals, education in which God was supreme and in which all other things kept their proportionate relationship. Modern secular education too often puts aside religion entirely as unnecessary but in the real education, the home, the church and the school should be in harmony—and this is the education that you have received at Notre Dame. You have been trained in the arts and sciences to a degree that will compare favorably with that of any school or college—it indeed it is not superior, but you have been trained in virtue and character which is far more important. This school has been for you, the extension of the home, it has been a preparation for life.

Catholics have always regarded the school as the bush of Horeb, the mount of Sinai, as a holy place. Outside the folds of the Catholic church, the world has banished religion from their educational systems. What has been the result? In our own country it is estimated that 40 per cent. do not attend any temple of worship and it is said that 20 per cent. profess no religious belief. May it not be due to this fact that we see so many menaces to society, to the family, and to national life in the agitations of the present? On all sides we find independence of thought, a lowering of moral standards, a championing of pernicious influences, divorce, socialism and anarchy. Against these mighty forces of evil the Catholic church must stand like the rock of ages, firm in belief and strong in achievement.

Your days here are at an end and you are now going out into that arena called the world. Some of you may feel somewhat; some may feel positions of importance; some may feel in the struggle. Whatever your fate may be, whether bright or gloomy, always remember the principles you have been taught in Notre Dame. The world will say as it has always said: 'Eat, drink and be merry today, for tomorrow you may die.' But if you take its advice you will suffer and you

5 HURT IN CRASH

Two Bay State Street Cars in Collision at Quincy

QUINCY, June 17.—Five persons were cut, bruised and otherwise hurt when two trolley cars of the Bay State Street Railway company were in collision at the entrance to the Fore river shipyard today. Two passengers, John Robery of Braintree and John Laurie of Weymouth were taken to the hospital. They will recover.

A car loaded with shipyard employees was entering a spur track at the yard entrance when a car bound from Weymouth for this city, escaped from the motorman's control and rolled rapidly down a steep incline, crashing into the side of the other car.

LAVERSKI FINED $40

Frank Laverski of Front street, this city, was fined forty dollars by the superior court at East Cambridge yesterday for assault and battery with a sharp instrument. The alleged assault occurred in this city a few weeks ago when a crowd gathered in Front street to watch a fire. A two months' sentence to the Lowell jail was imposed in the local police court but he appealed and the case was tried before Judge Keating yesterday. The defendant was represented by Lawyer George H. Alford.

MEXICAN SITUATION

various national offices where Carranza appointees were employed.

The whereabouts of H. Perez Abreu, was the matter of most speculation. He had been selected by Rafael Zubaran, Carranza's agent at Washington, as publicity agent of the revolution. Abreu disappeared when his office was taken over by the Villa soldiers. He just had issued an announcement that he was transcribing a bulletin regarding the Zapatistas attack in which the Natera forces had been defeated.

Constitutional agents here today were busy attempting to find an explanation from the south of the sudden turn of affairs at Juarez, but the rigid censorship on telegrams from Villa's headquarters at Torreon prevented any from arriving other than messages denying in a general way that the constitutionalist commander in chief and Villa, his northern chieftain, had reached a point of divorce on account of the appointment of Natera as chief of the new central zone and other incidents.

IN POLICE COURT

Edward T. Mulhall caused quite a disturbance near the corner of Middlesex and Central streets about 9 o'clock last evening when he put his hand through a large plate glass window at the Hamilton Cafe. It is claimed that the man was intoxicated and refused to leave the premises when ordered to do so by the proprietor. When the case was called in court this morning a young man appeared and claimed that he fell on the glass and cut his trousers while attempting to drive the man from the restaurant. He thought that the defendant should buy him a new suit of clothes, while the proprietor of the store went word that the window was damaged to the extent of nine dollars. The case was continued until tomorrow for further investigation.

William H. McDade was charged with permitting a vehicle to remain on Merrimack street for more than 20 minutes. He was discharged.

Four were released by Probation Officer Slatery.

WEED STREET SCHOOL

The teachers of the Weed street school, Miss McElroy, Miss Usher and Miss Devine, have made a specialty this year of a vegetable garden which occupies about half the yard at the rear of the school.

The land is divided off into sections, each teacher having her allotted share for the scholars of her room. Here are planted all kinds of vegetables, peas, beans, potatoes, cabbage, squash, turnip, beets, tomatoes and carrots. One little scholar, Miss Barbara O'Hair, has quite a crop of potatoes ready for hoing. It has been the aim of the teachers to plant only vegetables that will spring up before the school term is over.

In this they have been successful for at the present writing nearly all of the peas planted have been picked and the crop measures up to about four bushels. The tomato plants are the pride of the whole district. These have been sold to the residents about the school and persons residing in nearly every part of the city. These plants are of the finest species grown. Seeds are now being sown that will not yield before the fall. The scholars of the school will take care of the land until the school season opens. In each room a park commission, and a park board, consisting of scholars, have been chosen by the teachers and these youngsters will oversee the work. The predominating feature of the scheme, according to the teachers, is that it teaches the little boys and girls self-restraint. A case has not been reported during the present school term where a flower has been trampled upon or a vegetable stolen by one of the scholars. The pupils are very proud of their garden as they call it, and are always on the alert to guard against anything that will be detrimental to it. The pupils have home gardens also and a prize will be awarded to the fall to the scholar showing the best results. C. O. Morton, of the state board of agriculture, and a member of the faculty of Amherst college will come to this city and inspect the work of the future land users. Much credit must be given to the teachers of the school who have labored untiringly after school hours for the success of their plan, and it must be a source of enjoyment to them to see what success has been accomplished.

ADMINISTRATION OFFICIALS

AWAIT NEWS OF SPLIT

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Definite information regarding the reported split between Carranza and Villa, the constitutionalist leaders, was awaited anxiously today by administration officials. Constitutional agents here had received no official news up to an early hour today of the reported resignation of Villa and the seizure by his officers of telegraph and information bureaus in northern Mexico.

Men in the confidence of the revolutionary agency declared there had been no split between the two leaders and that if Villa had seized the telegraph office he acted entirely upon his authority as chief of the northern military zone. The reports, nevertheless, aroused considerable apprehension.

Failure of the American delegates to find some way to bring the constitutionalists within the immediate scope of mediation in their conference with Carranza's representatives at Buffalo was not entirely unexpected. President Wilson and his advisers still were hopeful that ultimately a way out of the diplomatic dilemma might be found. If, as was hoped, the Huerta delegates would recede from their stand against the acceptance of a constitutionalist for the provisional presidency it was believed that the revolutionists might have a part in plans for the new government and that the Niagara conference might be continued. On such a development or a change in the constitutionalist attitude toward a truce hope for the success of the mediation of the entire Mexican problem was said to be based. Rafael Zubaran and Luis Cabrera, the Carranza agents who met the American delegates at Buffalo yesterday, were to return to Washington today. When Secretary Bryan went to the White House he was expected to submit to President Wilson a full report of the result of the meeting at Buffalo.

Administration officials were unwilling to discuss any possibility of the adjournment of the Niagara conference Friday. They declined to indicate what disposition would be made of the troops in Vera Cruz, if the mediation proceedings were suspended.

FOR MEDIATION BOARD

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 17.—The unsatisfactory standing between the American delegates and the constitutionalist representatives at Buffalo, overnight despatches of friction at Juarez between Carranza and Villa, officials and stories of federal successes at Zacatecas produced a confusing situation for the mediation board today.

Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, the American delegates, declined to divulge what they had learned in Buffalo from Rafael Zubaran and Luis Cabrera, personal representatives of Carranza but spoke on the conference as clarifying and valuable.

The constitutionalists had explained in detail and with emphasis that there could be no compromise in any shape or form with General Huerta or any of his party, that a prominent constitutionalist alone would be accepted by them for the presidency and that the military triumph of the revolution was inevitable.

The American delegates realize the futility of further discussion with the Huerta delegates as to personnel.

ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOL

Held 32nd Annual Entertainment in Playhouse Last Evening With Excellent Program

The annual commencement exercises of St. Patrick's Boys' school for years have been notable events drawing large and appreciative audiences even from beyond the boundaries of the parish. The 32nd annual was held in the Playhouse last evening, with a matinee for the children, during the afternoon and it was a repetition of the successes of former years. As the graduates annually receive their diplomas at religious services held in St. Patrick's church, the exercises of last evening were confined to a high class musical and dramatic entertainment which brought out strikingly the natural talent of the young men who took part and emphasized the careful and intelligent training of their tutors. Rev. Bro. Edmund, who had general charge of the entertainment; Rev. Bro. Illiphanze, the dramatic instructor and Prof. Charles N. Staden, the noted musical instructor, are responsible largely for the higher order of the program and the faultless manner in which it was presented and they were the recipients of congratulations and praise from the clergy-men of the parish and the parents and friends of the pupils.

A lengthy, but evenly balanced and gracefully varied program was enjoyed, the principal feature of which was the presentation of the very recent and decidedly interesting Irish drama in five acts entitled, "Glean Na Coppel" of "The Glen of the Harrow," with scenes laid in Kerry and Dublin in the year 1849. The cast of characters was as follows:

Sir Christopher Parnesse of Cromwogue, Thomas H. Barden.
Ruecllyn Parnesse, his first-born, James J. Gallagher.
Donald O'Sullivan Parnesse, inheritor of the spirit of Dunboy, John P. McKell.
Brian O'Hara, better known as Brine, the actor, Francis M. O'Loughlin.
Skelton McClutchee, a solicitor, Benjamin W. Bernard.
Barry Barrill, useless, still useful, James J. Daley.
Pauden Devine, a boy-cottaged miser, Francis Mullican.
Ralph Remington, a detective, William Ceggar.
Solomon Cheatham, the usual 100 p. c., Martin E. Clough.
Maurice Burke, general secretary of the Land League, John J. Daly.
Richard, newspaper editor, R. C. C. Mortimer.
Superintendent of R. C. C. William Deland.
Johnny, elevator boy, Robert Shinkwin.
Dick, Peasants-James O'Sullivan.
James Keefe, William Chandler.
Thomas Brennan, John Connelley.
Seamus Kerry and Dublin, Time: 1849.

The evening's program was formally opened with a march, "All Hail the Lowly Faded Cross," John J. Giblin, leader, and this was followed by the overture, "Light Cavalry." The first number by the sanctuary choir was "The Miller's Wooing."

"The Merry Workers" was an action chorus that shared with the best things of the evening. The characters and those who portrayed them were as follows: Doctor, Harold Brown, senator, Thomas Heslin, teacher, James O'Sullivan; blacksmith, Charles Kilroy; barber, Joseph Plannery; draman, Francis Moran, undertaker, James Keefe; sailor, William Keefe; cobbler, Leo Conery; dentist, Francis Slan-don; tailor, Michael Daly; baker, Thomas Furey; politician, John Cotter.

"The Jolly Tars" another action song was given by the following pupils: Harold F. Brown, Leo F. McKell, Charles Kilroy, Edward F. Donovan, Fred C. Murphy, Arthur Higgins, Jas. T. O'Brien, James Cropper, George Ryan, Walter McKell, James F. Newton, James T. Keefe, Thomas J. Furey, Thomas Perry, Matthew Molloy, Edward Harrington, Michael McLannan, Dennis Shanahan, John McMan-mann, Timothy O'Sullivan, William Ashe, John D. Cotter, Michael Daly, John Lavery, Andrew Crowe, William Furey, William O'Sullivan, John Spill-lare, Francis Kelly, James J. Casey, Thomas Heslin, Daniel P. Brady, Jas. Finn, William McGreedy, John J. Ro-han, Francis Redding, Arthur Brennan, Charles Carr.

Another action song, "Ten Little Children" all appearing in Chinese costume, included the following: Chas. P. Heslin, William H. Coyle, James P. Furey, Richard O'Connell, F. Mallen, Edward C. Portell, John H. Casey, James J. McMahon, William Brunette, John E. Sullivan, William C. Carey, Raymond J. Brady, Thomas Lannen, Joseph Regan, Daniel J. Cunningham, Timothy Stapleton, Freder-ick J. Smith, Richard P. Clarke, Geo. J. Monaghan, George J. Martin.

"Armenia," the second number by the sanctuary choir, received a well deserved encore.

"The Lecture on Realization" by Chairman John McMahon was a clever bit of entertainment while the choir and action song, "The Tall Top Hat" in which the following pupils appeared, was also thoroughly enjoyed: R. P. O'Brien, Francis E. Del-more, Raymond J. Furlong, Francis W. Ryan, Peter Curran, Edward W. Ryan, John J. Rolan, Leo P. Wholey, John F. Sullivan, Maurice F. Usher, James M. Manning, Joseph J. Alfano.

Master Raymond O'Brien was the soloist in the number, "You're A Grand Old Man," and he was assisted by a large chorus of boys, including: R. P. O'Brien, William Chandler and James O'Sullivan were also well enjoyed. Rev. Brother Albertus and William Paul McCarthy, accompanists of the evening, contributed their share to the success of the entertainment.

The entertainment will be repeated this evening and undoubtedly will draw another packed house.

BRIDGE DISASTER

Herman Lemire, 18 years and residing at 133 Salem street, this city, both arms out, lateration at the back of the head and right leg bruised.

Edward Bouchard, aged 14 years and residing at 11 Watson avenue, received bad bruises on the chest and forehead and probable a fractured skull. He was removed to the Lowell hospital.

William Corley, a driver for Friend Bros., was in the store when the accident occurred and he also went down and sustained severe injuries. He was removed to Friend Bros' store and later to his home at 219 Appleton st., where he was treated by the family physician.

The injured were rushed to St. John's and Lowell hospitals in haste and in order to take care of all the injured the police patrol and two ambulances and other carriages were pressed into service. Several physicians were on hand at the hospital and in about one hour all the injured had been given the attention of the doctors.

The doctor at St. John's hospital stated that Joseph Belair was the most seriously injured, but it is believed that if his internal injuries are not too serious he will recover.

First Aid to Injured.
Commissioner Morse was talking with former Agent Taft when the building went down. The two men were standing within a few yards of the spot. Taft never saw anything like it in his life.

The slightest noise of warning the building came tumbling down. It sounded like an explosion and we thought, for the moment, that the entire bridge had come down. Then came the ringing of the fire bells and about them could be heard the cries of eleven men under the iron beams. The blood was running from the mouth of one poor fellow who was pinned beneath a great iron beam and we went to his assistance as quickly as possible. We sent him to the hospital in my automobile.

Capt. Jevie and Lieut. Waller were on the bridge when the accident happened and rushed down to administer first aid to the injured. They rendered valuable assistance all through the trying ordeal of getting the wounded out from under the iron beams and attending to their injuries in the best possible manner.

Medical Examiner Melis soon arrived on the scene and was of valuable assistance in directing the treatment and removal of the wounded. Sheriff Eveseth and County Commissioner Barlow were also present soon after the accident and did all they possibly could to assist in taking care of the wounded and getting them out of the wreck.

Several fire companies came with all haste as a result of the alarm and they certainly did good work in lifting the injured men from the bodies of the injured men and searching the ruins in order to find whether any more were buried underneath.

After the injured had been taken from the ruins the railroad men had engines drawn up by which the heavy girders were pulled down the tracks. A large chain was put around a part of the fallen store and it was hauled badly down the track by an engine.

No Trains on Track.
There were no trains on the tracks when the accident occurred. If trains had been standing there and people believed that in the course of repairs, the supports were weakened. The trusses or girders gave way on the Appleton street end of the bridge. This is evidenced by the fact that the supports on that end have disappeared while the supports on the other side remain intact, showing that the trusses on the opposite side simply dropped from their supports.

As is always the case in accidents of this kind, there are those who will say: "I told you so." But in this particular instance it appears that quite a number of persons have, within the last three or four weeks, or since the bridge men began their operations, expressed the belief that there was danger of the building toppling over because, it is stated, the little building was liable to waver at times.

A group of men boarding in a house close to the bridge have, it is alleged, repeatedly expressed the belief that something would happen there. One of them said: "It did not seem to us that the store was properly supported and I made the remark that it would fall before long. From the nature of the work that was being done on the bridge, it seemed almost literally to have in the air. When the accident occurred today I was obliged to say I had anticipated it."

Authorities Will Investigate.
The railroad will investigate the cause of the accident and engineers are already at work examining into the details. It was suggested this afternoon that the city authorities should take a hand in the investigation and that the bridge itself should be thoroughly gone over.

Only Few Passengers.
The fact that this is a holiday in Boston may have saved others from injury, fatal or otherwise. Ordinarily the Boston train that leaves Boston just before 9 o'clock accommodates a large number of Highland people who are in the habit of running into Mr. Barlow's store to buy a paper. The cause of the holiday in Boston, the number of people this morning was not as large as usual, but a number of men had been in and out of the store within ten minutes of the accident.

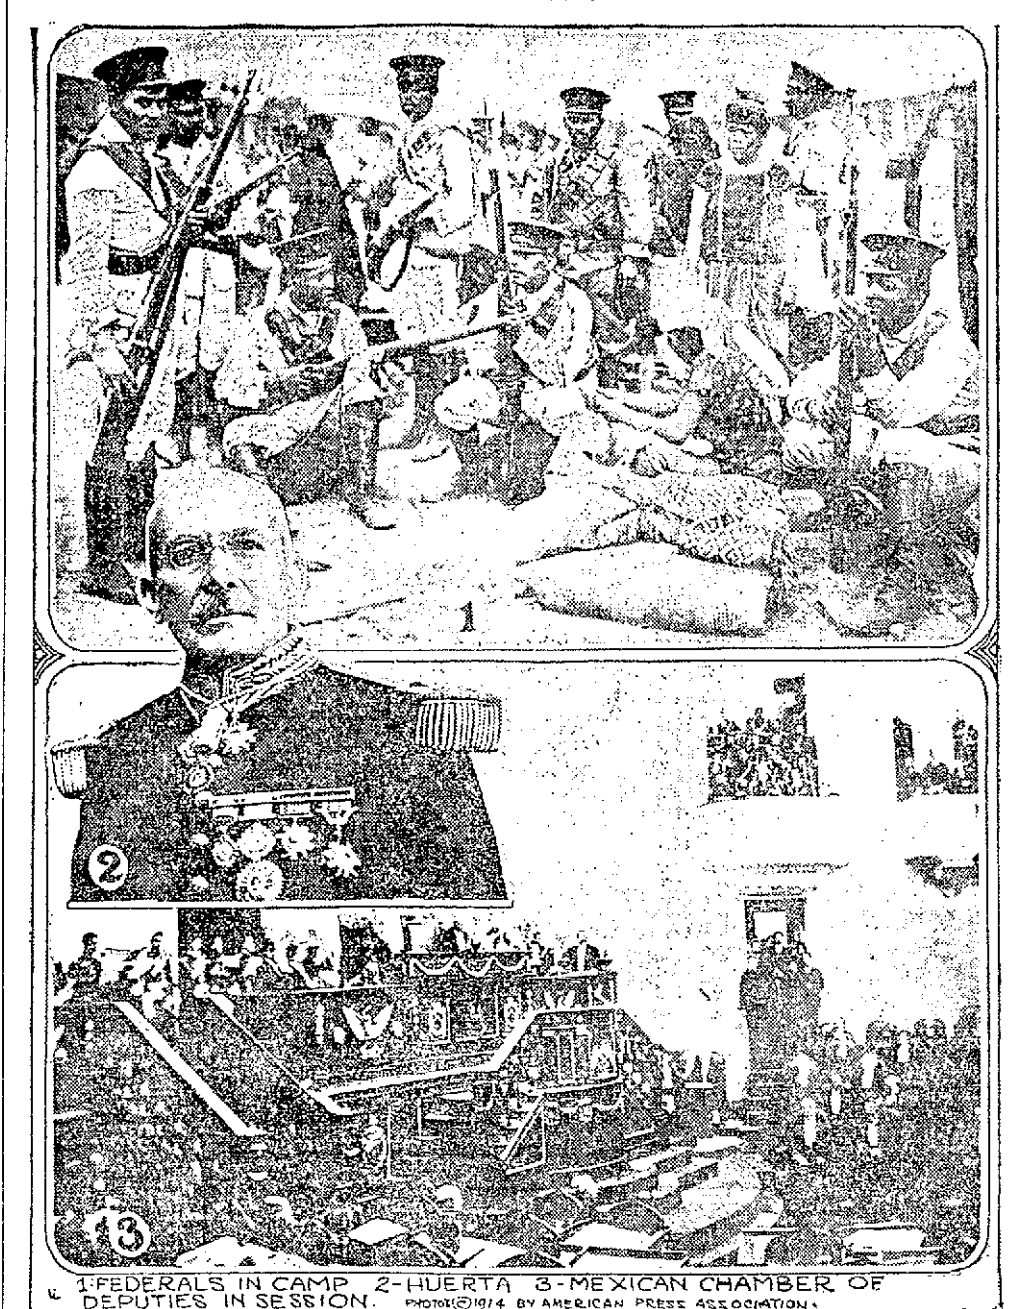

When the Boston train pulled in a number of persons were standing on the platform near where the building fell, and it is certain that the accident occurred as the train pulled through, the list of injured must have been much larger.

Almost An Eye Witness.
The writer was sitting in the office of the Richardson hotel awaiting a car for Westford when the building tumbled. "Engine exploded," shouted a man in the street, and everybody went post haste to the depot. The cause of the unusual disturbance was quickly discovered, however, but it was impossible to tell how serious was the result. The noise resembled that of an explosion and looking toward the bridge from midway of the depot it looked as if the bridge itself had collapsed. There were at least 500 people on the scene within five minutes of the accident and the police were obliged to handle some of them pretty roughly in order to clear the way for the real workers.

The Bouchard boy, the most seriously injured of them all, was the first to be rescued. It was impossible to recognize the lad as he was pulled out of the debris still enveloped in clouds of dust. He declared that he was not seriously injured and pleaded to be taken home rather than to the hospital. "There are some other fellows there, look out for them," said the bridge men, as has been heretofore stated, had been working on the trusses, supporting the little building that collapsed, for several days, and it is

MEXICAN CONGRESS REMAINS IN SESSION BY HUERTA'S ORDERS PENDING THE CRISIS

MEXICO CITY, June 17.—The extended session of the chamber of deputies did not come to an end when scheduled. The congress was ordered to continue in session by Huerta until after the peace negotiations had ended. Meanwhile Huerta's men in the field are meeting with constant reverses. The crisis of Mexican affairs is expected at any day. The deputies will stand firmly behind Huerta, and an appeal will be made to all Mexicans, federals and rebels alike, to unite against the American invasion in case war is declared.

At the time of going to press, Mr. Belair, the most seriously injured, was holding his own, although in a very serious condition.

MANNING FAMILY REUNION

Held at the Old Manse in Billerica Today—Over 150 Assembled at the Annual Dinner

The old and historic Manning manse located on the Chelmsford road, North Billerica, never presented a more pleasing appearance than today when over 150 descendants of the old Manning family gathered to observe the 14th annual reunion of the Manning association. The weather was ideal for the occasion and the greater part of the day was spent on the spacious lawns and athletic fields adjoining the building.

For many years June 17 has been a very important date in the minds of the members of the Manning association and each year they gather from parts near and far to exchange hand shakes and enjoy a few hours together while a short business session is also held.

Today, the number present was even greater than that of last year and when the dinner bell sounded at 1 o'clock nearly 200 people assembled around the festive board to enjoy a dinner prepared and served by the employees of the Manning manse. Speaking followed and later the members assembled to elect officers for the coming year.

The Manning manse is one of Billerica's oldest and most widely advertised residences and is located at a point about two miles from the North Billerica postoffice. The buildings were erected in the year 1868 and since that time have been almost continually in the hands of the Manning family. The buildings and several acres of land are now owned by the Manning association and Warren H. Manning acts as custodian, having full charge. Recently modern improvements were made and a few years ago an auxiliary house was built across the street which is occupied by another member of the family.

As the people began to arrive in North Billerica shortly before noon today carriages were dispatched to the postoffice and the Fordway bridge to convey them to the manse. At 12:30 the carriages had been over the road many times and the people gathered in the main building where they were met by the reception committee and asked to sign their names in the register which contains the signatures of those who have attended the annual reunion for many years past.

At 1 o'clock all gathered around a number of tables which were placed under a large canvas tent and after prayer was offered the many good things which were placed on the table were partaken of with great enjoyment. Many of the older members of the family were then called upon to relate their experiences at past reunions or to make other interesting remarks, after which a short business session was held and officers were elected to serve for the coming year.

The present officers of the association are: President, Capt. Charles H. Manning of Manchester, N. H.; vice president, Guy Marion, Woburn; secretary and treasurer, Warren H. Manning, No. Billerica; historian, William H. Manning, West Somerville; entertainment committee, Mrs. Earl G. Manning, Joseph McCabe, Elizabeth M. Houghton, Herbert Manning, Prentice C. Manning and Mrs. Edward W. Walker; reception committee, Mrs. Leroy Parkhurst, Miss Martha Warren, Frank M. Short, Miss Mabel Hall, Miss Isabella Hallway, Miss Elizabeth Fullerton, Miss Olive McCabe, and Mrs. S. D. Marble.

OUTING FOR ORPHANS, HOSPITAL SHIP ASHORE

INMATES OF FRENCH AMERICAN ORPHANAGE GIVEN IDEAL OUTING TODAY

The annual outing of the children of the French-American orphanage is being held today at the home of Pierre Tremblay, superintendent of St. Joseph's cemetery in East Chelmsford. The affair was organized by the Sisters of Charity of Quebec, who are in charge of the institution and was made possible through the courtesy of a number of local business men who graciously supplied automobiles to transport the little ones to the picnic grounds.

The children who attended the outing numbered about 250, including boys and girls, and the procession of 20 automobiles containing the youngsters, which went through the principal streets of the city this forenoon was an interesting spectacle. The boys and girls were dressed in blue and carried tiny American flags and en route they filled the air with melodious singing. The party left the orphanage at 9 o'clock and the automobiles instead of going through Gorbam street as it had been planned at first, drove their machines up Middlesex street in order to give the children an opportunity to witness the debris of the accident at the railroad station.

The party arrived at the picnic grounds shortly after 10 o'clock and the boys and girls were then given entire freedom to amuse themselves and outdoor sports were then started. At noon a dainty dinner was served on the green and the afternoon was spent in games and amusements of all sorts, while ice cream and other refreshments were served.

The children were in charge of 22 sisters headed by the superior, Sr. Beatrice, and the procession of young women also aided materially in bringing about a successful day.

Those who so generously supplied automobiles for the trip were as follows: J. L. Chaffoux Co., Adolphe Lamontagne, Elie Delisle, R. J. Babin, Dr. A. J. Gagnon, C. H. Brault, Charles Cote, Napoleon Casotte, Joseph A. Levesque, Angèle Archambault, Paul Vincent, Arthur Gosselin, Arthur J. Gosselin, Dr. G. O. LaVallee, J. B. Pelnaud, Joseph Albert, J. A. Gervais, Wilfred Blouin, Joseph Martin, Louis Levesque, Joseph Gagnon, George E. Moncau, Severin Beaudry, Frank Beaudry, J. B. Morin, Thaddeus Robitaille, Avila Sawyer and Ephrem Pelletier.

GLASGOW, June 17.—The hospital ship Maine presented to the British nation by American women during the South African war, went ashore today in the fifth of Lorne on the west coast of Scotland during a fog and it is feared she will become a total wreck.

The Maine, which was attached to the home fleet of the British navy, had a large number of patients on board at the time of the accident. All were placed in the ship's boats where they remained until the arrival of other boats, summoned by wireless.

LUCKY BOY

Little Vincent, in company with his favorite playmates, had been gleefully pranking in boyish fashion, when, unexpectedly the voice of his mother was heard calling—Vincent! "Yes, mother," was the quick response of little Vincent, "I'll come right along." And as Vincent emerged from the vacant lot which adjoins his father's house; his good mother admonished him in his forgetfulness to perform an errand she had earlier dispatched him with to Coburn's. "Well, I'm sorry mother," replied Vincent, manfully, "but I will go at once."—"No," interrupted his mother, "you needn't bother now, for I have decided to phone the order to Coburn's."

Shortly afterwards, one of Coburn's Lippard-Stewart Delivery Cars, noiselessly entered the driveway and the goods which Mrs. Wisely had ordered, were delivered at the back door. Upon reflection, Mrs. Wisely was just as well pleased that she hadn't given Vincent such a journey on that hot day, so when Vincent's father returned home that evening he was not apprised of the little fellow's negligence.

CAN WRECK BIG LEAGUES

FEDERAL LEAGUE CAN TAKE ALL PLAYERS WHO ASK TO JOIN OUTLAWS

CHICAGO, June 17.—The Federal league can wreck from a playing standpoint the two big leagues within 30 days if it cares to sign all the players who have asked to be taken over, according to a statement here today by James A. Gilmore, president of the federal league. Gilmore repeated his statement that 40 players are ready to leave National and American leagues but would not say how many of them would be absorbed at this time.

The Chicago American league team which so far has escaped the Federal raids intact, will lose other players besides Chase, who will play his last game in a White Sox uniform a week from tomorrow. Scott, Russell, Weaver, Benz and Blackburn are players the White Sox will lose, according to the report.
